HITLER OFFERS CONFERENCE

Makes Final Move In "Peace Offensive" Today

British Press Firmly Rejects Offer Of Hitler

Sees Nothing In Reichstag Speech To Swerve Allies From Course

FUNERAL ORATION ONE NEWSPAPER SAYS

"Decision Of Peace Or War Has Been Taken Out Of Hitler's Hands"

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 6—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's offer of an international peace conference met with firm and immediate rejection in the British press today, while authoritative government circles indicated there was nothing in his speech to the Reichstag likely to swerve the allies from their determined course of action.

As the address was taken under immediate consideration by the government, there were no indications of parliamentary discussion before Wednesday of next week, when the house of commons will take it up in the ordinary course of events.

Was As Expected

Parliamentary circles regarded the speech as "very much what was expected". No concrete further comment is expected until after Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's weekly review of the war situation in the house on Wednesday.

Lawrence county has hundreds of acres of waste land that could be turned into productive channels by planting nut producing trees. Some of the land is too rough to ever be cultivated, and some of it is too poor to produce cereal crops, but nearly all of it would produce nuts. Probably one reason why more nut trees are not planted, is that it takes them so long to come into bearing. But think what a nice thing it will be to have folks bless you after you are gone.

Most of us who have watched an airplane in the sky, get the impression that it moves rather slowly. It may be going at over one hundred miles per hour but it does not appear to be moving as fast as an auto at thirty miles per hour. If you were up in the airplane going one hundred miles per hour, would not realize it even then. One reason why planes appear to be going slower than they really are, is that we cannot see them passing objects in the sky, and when we are aboard the plane, of course there is nothing to pass. We take cognizance of the speed of an auto or train by the objects it passes.

U. S. Will Never Send Soldiers Abroad To Fight Another Nation's Battles

—SENATOR PITTMAN

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Pittman interrupted the fast pace of neutrality debate in the special session of congress today to issue a statement reasserting his belief that no matter how the neutrality battle goes, this country will never again send its soldiers abroad to fight another nation's battles.

Observing that "interest is lagging" in the debate and adding that he will ask for a vote on the administration's neutrality act arms embargo repeal bill whenever opportunity presents itself, Pittman declared:

Will Send No Troops Abroad

"There is one thing that I am absolutely sure of. This congress will never vote to send any American soldiers abroad in this war. I am equally sure that this congress would never appropriate money for the purpose of mobilizing, training or preparing any troops specifically for service in this war.

British Admiralty Denies German Report Of Plan To Sink Liners

BULLETIN
(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The British admiralty today issued a statement expressing great surprise over the declaration of German Grand Admiral Erich Raeder that the American liner Iroquois was to be sunk "under circumstances which marked the loss of the S. S. Athenia".

Reading into this an implied charge that the British navy was planning to sink the Iroquois as a pretext to arouse American antipethy to Germany, the admiralty stated:

"Attention of the admiralty has been drawn to Berlin's suggestion that the Iroquois is to be sunk 'through a repetition of circumstances marking the loss of the Athenia'.

"The Athenia was sunk by a U-boat plainly seen by responsible survivors. No British submarine was within several hundred miles.

"The fact that the German government made such a suggestion enables us again to realize and measure the criminal mentality of Nazi party leaders.

"But it is surprising that an officer of the imperial German navy like Admiral Raeder should demean his uniform to such baseness."

Prior to this statement, Raeder's implied allegation against Britain was termed in British circles as "an obvious canard".

LIGONIER, Pa., Oct. 6.—Death of Theodore Smularski, 23, McKees Rocks, today brought to three the number of victims of an automobile crash at the foot of Ligonier mountain at Laughlintown late last night.

The three men were homeward bound from Everett when their light sedan crashed into a concrete abutment alongside the highway and careened head-on into a truck driven by Eugene Croppi, 27, Pittsburgh, state motor police reported. Croppi apparently was not injured.

Snowberger was trapped in the car, which burst into flames, and was burned to death. The other two men were thrown clear, police said.

Recount Of Wet And Dry Vote Is Taken To Court

Hickory Township Citizens Want Recount Result To Be Set Aside

BELIEVE BALLOTS TAMPERED WITH

Court Set Monday Morning To Hear Testimony On Voters' Petition

Believing that the ballots of the second precinct of Hickory township were tampered with, after they had been accounted for by the election board on September 12, 16 voters of the precinct today petitioned Judge Thomas W. Dickey to suspend the certification of the recount and to grant them a hearing to set aside the official recount. Because of the seriousness of the situation Judge Dickey has set Monday, October 9, as the time for this hearing to supersede all other court business.

The petition arose out of the wet and dry election held in Hickory township on primary day, September 12. When the votes were tabulated and the return sheet made out it showed that the voters had decided against the retail sale of alcoholic beverage by a vote of 195 to 113.

Ask For Recount

A petition was presented to the court asking that the ballot boxes be brought into court and recounted. Judge Dickey granted the petition and a most unusual sight greeted the official return board. Some 36 ballots were marked both "yes" and "no", others still had the numbered corners on and the recount showed that the township had voted "wet" by three votes instead of "dry" by 82.

Sensing the possibility of something more than "honest error", District Attorney John G. Lamorse and Assistant District Attorney L. K. Donaldson began an investigation. The justice of the peace of Hickory township, A. M. Kimmel, was called in and questioned. The ballot box had been in his possession at the time it was brought in for recount.

Squire Kimmel told the district attorneys that he had not had the box all the time, but that it had been in the possession of Oscar W. McConahy for several days before he (Kimmel) saw it.

"Something Wrong"

Members of the board questioned said practically the same thing. They all agreed that there were not 36 ballots marked "yes" and "no" when they locked the box, that one or perhaps two had been so marked and were disqualified. They also insisted that the vote as shown on the return sheet was what the ballots showed when they counted

German Soldiers' Prowess Will Be Seen Says Hitler

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—French and British soldiers will learn "to their sorrow" of the prowess of the German army if the war continues, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler told the Reichstag today.

"As to my being afraid, all I can say is that future events will reveal whether their statements are correct.

"Impossible statements also have been circulated as to the value of the German army. Its prowess however stands supreme, as the French and English soldiers on the western front will ascertain to their sorrow."

French Prepare For Nazi Drive

See Military Blow If Hitler's "Peace Offensive" Speech Is Rejected

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 6—With fighting on the Western front virtually at a standstill, the French nation concentrated on two points today—Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech and the direction from which Germany's military blow may come if the Fuehrer's overtures are rejected.

That there was little action along the Franco-German border to indicate a state of war was made clear by this morning's French military communique, No. 65, which said:

"The night was calm. There was activity by patrols, notably southwest of Saarbrucken."

French military circles bent their chief attention to the problem of guessing where the German "lightning" may strike, if and when it comes.

Hitler Makes 'Peace' Speech To Reichstag

Proposes International Conference To Settle World Problems

OUTLINES AIMS OF NAZI REGIME

Warns He Has No Doubt Of German Victory If War Is Continued

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler made his "final offer" of peace in the form of an international conference on disarmament and all European problems today with a warning that rejection would bring an ever-expanding war costing millions of lives and untold billions in property losses.

The Fuehrer launched his "peace offensive" in a one hour and 20 minute speech to the Reichstag in which he urged international settlement of all issues at stake in the world today and limitation of armaments to a "security basis."

Opening of full hostilities on the western front, he said, can only mean a loss of millions of lives, with eventual restoration of a Franco-German boundary marked not by flourishing cities but by ruined towns and "gigantic cemeteries."

Seeks Conference

He urged that guns be silenced at least long enough to allow the statesmen of Europe to meet in a sincere and far-reaching conference to settle problems of nationalities, minorities, raw materials, trade and economic matters and Germany's war-lost colonies in Africa.

The last, he said, is the only claim that Germany has against England, and force of arms is not needed to solve this problem.

Recommending an "exchange of populations" if necessary, Hitler stressed that Germany's entire eastern border must be readjusted upon historical, ethnographic and economic lines.

"This aim," he said, "must be achieved throughout the east and southeast of Europe where German population centers are located and their assimilation found impossible."

Russia and Germany would jointly propose suitable reforms, he said, which would eliminate causes of conflict.

Little Action On Western Front

Await Reaction On Hitler Speech

Climax Of German "Peace Offensive" Is Reached In Reichstag Address

MINOR ACTIVITY ON BATTLE LINE

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 6—Military action on the western front came virtually to a standstill today as France waited to digest Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech and the reaction it produces among the Anglo-French allies.

The military calm was reflected by France's war communique No. 65, which stated:

Night Is Calm

"The night was calm. There was activity by patrols, notably southwest of Saarbrucken."

Patrol maneuvers referred to the statement were believed to have been no more than a reminder that a state of war exists while this nation, in common with the rest of the world, turned its attention to the climax of the German "peace offensive."

It seemed apparent, however, that nothing said by Hitler would alter the French determination to continue the war unless the German fuehrer's speech is found to conform to the "minimum" war aims laid down by Premier Edouard Daladier and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain.

The speech needs careful study, it was said, particularly as regards the German aims outlined.

While government authorities deprecated unofficial speculation, the London Press was outspoken in declaring that Britain and France have taken the decision of peace or war out of Hitler's hands.

"Changes Nothing"

"Hitler's speech changes nothing and offers nothing new," the Evening Standard said. "The answer of Britain and France is therefore known.

"Hitler says he has made his 'last peace offer'. That may not be true. He may soon, instead of proposing peace, come crawling for it.

"Great Britain and France have taken the decision from his hands. They have decided to finish with Hitler. He has spoken his funeral oration."

Prior to Hitler's speech, it was understood that Chamberlain had informed Premier Mussolini that the allies would reject any German peace proposals unless they measured up to the "minimum war demands" of Britain and France.

NEW GOLD DREDGE RESTORES GROUND TO ORIGINAL FORM

PORTLAND, Ore.—Development of a new type gold dredge that is virtually guaranteed to restore the territory over which it passes in man's conquest for the precious yellow metal, was announced by Earl K. Nixon, director of the state department of geology and mineral industries.

The dredge, after it has sifted every particle of gold from metal bearing areas, replaces the tailings in the usual manner. The heavy boulders are settled to the bottom and are covered by the finer materials until the ground has been restored to its original structure, Harry England, inventor, explained.

It is believed that the new device will have a far-reaching effect on gold-dredging operations.

Commenting upon the tendency toward the building of smaller houses, I. Miller Henley, says he believes that there are two principal reasons. One is the increase cost of building, and the other, taxation. When the assessor comes along to make his valuations, he naturally considers the size of the house, and marks it up, while the smaller house is valued on a more conservative basis. Again the cost of heating the big house is much greater than a small one, and when it comes to upkeep and repairs, the smaller house has the decided advantage.

HITLER MAKES 'PEACE" SPEECH TO REICHSTAG

established at a convenient time, he said, with assurances that there is no place in it for "hot-beds of intrigue" against Germany and the U. S. S. R.

Not Weakness

Wildly cheered by his 800-odd Nazi deputies gathered in the Kroll Opera House, the Fuehrer concluded with a warning to Winston Churchill and others not to interpret his truce offer as "weakness nor of cowardice."

"But if the Churchill clique is successful (in its alleged war aims), this will be my last declaration," Hitler said.

"Thereafter we will fight, and neither force of arms nor time itself will conquer Germany.

"November 1918 will never be repeated. Any hopes for the disintegration of our people are childish.

"Churchill may be convinced of Britain's victory, but I have not a second's doubt of Germany's victory.

"Fate will decide who is right.

"Only one thing is certain. There have never been two victors in the world's history—only the vanquished as the last war showed. May other nations and their leaders now speak. May those who see a better solution in war than in peace now reject my offer."

Scant Mention For Italy

The Fuehrer mentioned Italy only once, in the course of reviewing Germany's friendly relations with the nations of southern and southeastern Europe, the Baltic nations and those on the North Sea.

Poland will never be restored as she was before Germany marched in to "eliminate" an impossible situation in which 10,000 German lives were lost and no less than 640,000 Polish soldiers taken prisoner.

But, he said, Germany and Russia, "respectful of one another's viewpoint" and firmly determined never to wage war upon one another, are ready and willing to re-establish and re-settle the purely Polish population whenever the proper occasion arises to do so.

So far as the rest of Europe is concerned, he said, Germany demands new boundaries based upon ethnographic, economic and national lines, a definite solution of the Jewish problem, a restoration of real European security and the "clarification" of armaments to govern the use of war planes and poison gas, so that weapons may become instruments of protection and not of menace.

War Will Spread

Unless these problems are settled at a council table in an atmosphere of international peace and trust, the Fuehrer warned, the war on the western front will spread and expand until millions are dead and billions in property lost forever.

"This destructive struggle will not be confined to the continent of Europe," he said, "but will stretch out overseas. There are no isolated islands any more."

It was emphasized in official circles that this allusion to "islands" referred only to England, and did not mean that Hitler was predicting a war that would extend across the Atlantic to the Americas.

"Mutual disarmament" was one of the measures suggested by the Fuehrer as he opened his long-awaited "peace offensive" in a historic speech to the German Reichstag.

Hitler announced plans to create a new Polish state based on ethnologic, economic and national factors which would also safeguard German interests.

He proposed as well a solution of the Jewish problem.

The Reichstag was crowded to overflowing with the 800-odd deputies of the Nazi regime.

New Economic Order.

Hitler reiterated his desire for friendly relations with England.

"Germany has no demands against England," he said, "with exception of the colonial problem—an issue that can be solved without resort to force."

"Proposing a new economic order, reorganization of world markets and other measures to establish peace in Europe on a permanent, unshakeable basis, the Fuehrer declared that Germany will guarantee to continue friendly relations with the Baltic and Scandinavian states, Holland, Belgium, Italy, Soviet Russia and others.

"None has anything to fear from Germany," he said.

So far as France is concerned, the Fuehrer declared, Germany has no further grounds for dispute.

"The revisions of the Versailles treaty that have been carried out cannot be changed again," he said.

"Therefore the world is confronted with the question: 'Why should war now occur on the western front?'"

"The European conference," Hitler said in pleading for at least an immediate truce, "must meet without cannon thundering in its ears."

Urging reestablishment of international confidence, the Fuehrer announced that the Russo-German pacts proved that he has no designs upon the Ukraine and Rumania.

"General war would be a horrible catastrophe from which Europe would never recover," he said.

The Czecho-Slovak state will remain permanent as it is, the Fuehrer said.

Aim Of Germany

"The aim of the German government in the east is:

"First, creation of a Reich border based upon historical, ethnologic and economic conditions.

"Second, reorganization in accordance with nationalities and solution of minority problems.

"This refers not only to Poland but also to southern and southeastern European countries."

Anti-aircraft guns were much in evidence in the vicinity of the Kroll Opera House where the Reichstag met.

"Thirdly, an attempt to solve the Jewish problems.

Fourth, reconstruction of economic life.

"Fifth, guarantees of the security of the entire territories involved.

Sixth, creation of a Polish state guaranteeing it against reestablishment of hot-beds of intrigue against Germany and Russia."

This task is not an imperialistic one, Hitler said, but will keep Germany busy from fifty to a hundred years.

government could commit acts of war upon our country, such as bombing our industrial plants. I know that we would resist such acts of war. I know that we would authorize the use of all of our economic and financial powers and our indomitable navy to stop and punish such warlike action.

"I must say that I do not think any European nation would be so foolish as to commit such deliberate and unquestionable acts of war. But if they did, they would invite their own inevitable defeat."

Warned U. S. Boat To Be Sunk

Pittman's statement was inspired by White House publication of a warning sent this country by Admiral Erich Raeder, head of the German navy, to the effect the American liner Iroquois would be sunk and an implication in the warning that Great Britain would send the boat to the bottom. The Iroquois is a boat chartered by the maritime commission and enroute to the United States from Ireland bearing American refugees.

Raeder's message to this country said sinking of the vessel "would be accomplished through a repetition of the circumstances which marked the loss of the steamship Athenia". Germany has always contended that the Athenia was sunk on orders of the British in order to arouse American feelings against the Reich.

Pittman received news of the Raeder message with the sardonic observation "Raeder ought to know" and then issued his statement anent American feeling against sending troops abroad.

ADOLF SLIGHTLY CRAZY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Hitler is a "border line case of paranoia" according to Dr. Leo Alexander, professor of neurology at Harvard University, who recently returned from Europe. "Hitler" he said, "is a man acting on impulse derived from distorted conceptions and loaded with complex affectively. He also suffers from delusions of persecution and ideas of grandeur which always go together. Still, there is a semblance of sanity. This type just keeps from becoming absurd."

Speech Of Hitler Offers Little Hope For Early Peace

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—Adolf Hitler's speech before the Reichstag has apparently strengthened the determination of members of congress to keep the United States out of the European war.

Commenting on the speech today over the radio, a representative group saw little assurance of peace, and cautioned the United States against becoming involved in foreign entanglements.

"He (Hitler) was trying to frighten Britain and France into peace on German terms" Senator Capper (R) Kansas, said, "also he was bolstering up the spirits of the German people, but it is up to Britain and France and not to the United States, to give the answer to Mr. Hitler's latest explosion."

the engineer and F. J. Daly the conductor. They were unaware of the accident until notified afterwards.

Duffy's body was discovered a few minutes after 7 o'clock by Tom Walters, of Cliff street, who was walking towards town. He went to a nearby gasoline station and called city police, who summoned an ambulance and had Duffy removed to the hospital. It was found that his right arm was so badly mangled that amputation was necessary between the elbow and shoulder, and he also had received a fractured skull. He died three hours after he had been admitted to the hospital.

Coroner Charles Piper Byers, who was notified, stated that in his opinion, Duffy's death was purely accidental.

Samuel E. Duffy was born in New Castle on June 3, 1890, son of Stephen and Phoebe Johnson Duffy. He was a World War veteran and served for some months overseas.

He is survived by two sons, Silas, of Cleveland, O., and Russell, of Philadelphia; his mother, Mrs. Stephen Duffy, of this city; the following sisters, Mrs. Laura Elszler, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Elsie Stanley, Mrs. Elvira Cromie and Mrs. Gertrude Miller, of New Castle and Mrs. Ida Lanigan, of Cleveland, and three brothers, James R. and Walter, of New Castle, and Silas, of Cleveland.

The body is at the Jos. B Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, where services will be conducted Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

TOWARD MECHANIZING OUR ARMY

THE $6,000,000 order by the Army for 329 new tanks is a step toward mechanizing our land forces that is taken none too soon. Tanks came into the World War comparatively late and gave no such demonstration of their efficiency as has been so strikingly demonstrated by the Germans in Poland.

In contrast to the German complement of 6000 tanks, with ten completely motorized army divisions, we have just one mechanized force, a gas-driven brigade attached to the cavalry, to which only 2200 soldiers are assigned.

The United States requires a Navy at least equal to any other, but parity in tank equipment is not needed. However, this does not mean that our Army should be woefully deficient in this military factor of proven value.

Experts predict that mechanized warfare will soon be conducted along the Western Front in Europe on the greatest scale ever known. In this branch of preparedness Great Britain and France have fallen far behind Germany and Russia.

No other country has the capacity of American industries for producing mechanized equipment. But the time to prepare is now. The fact that we have the smallest standing army in the world in proportion to population makes it all the more necessary that it be provided with the most up-to-date armament and men trained to use it.

IN JUSTICE TO THE PRESS

WILL HAYS' office at Hollywood has demanded that motion picture producers stop caricaturing the American newspaper man. No longer will the scribe be portrayed on the screen as "a drunkard who goes about 'cadging' drinks and generally conducting himself in a thoroughly offensive and unethical manner."

And to this the journalists of the nation will shout a hearty "Amen!" Modern newspaper life has no room for the irresponsible Bohemian of tradition. It is an exacting field of activity, and the sooner the movie fans of America are made aware of the fact the better it will be for public opinion as well as for the reputation of a craft that is adhering to the highest of personnel standards.

DEFENSE CHEAPER THAN WAR

It will cost a lot of money to build our defenses to a point where we would be attack-proof in this bandit harassed world. But not nearly as much as it would cost to send another expeditionary force into another European war.

War Department officials are talking in terms of a $700,000,000 increase in appropriations for next year, to enlarge the army, intensify its training, and equip it with modern arms.

Other defense enthusiasts are suggesting that we build a two-ocean navy. Rough estimates fix $4,000,000,000 as the probable cost of building another fleet equal to the one we have now.

Those are large figures.

But not so frightening when contrasted with $50,000,000,000—that being the total United States' expenditures on account of the World War, up to 1930, including post-war costs attributable to the war, and including war loans to European countries which will never be repaid.

Moreover, we're still paying, and before we get through we'll be out of pocket money enough to gold-plate the Gatun locks and diamond-stud the battleship turrets of at least a two-ocean navy.

Not being military experts, we don't know how much more money the army and navy should spend, nor for what. But there are plenty of top-notch experts in the army and navy and in the Military and Naval Affairs committees of Congress who can decide what should be done.

In our opinion the American people are willing to pay the price of making our defenses impregnable. They are willing to spend billions to make our nation strong and thereby keep wars from our shores, but not at all willing to spend more multi-billions of dollars and shed more American blood in another war over there.—Washington, D. C., News.

SCIENCE POINTS THE WAY

Dark as is the world horizon, organized movements looking toward a sane type of international cooperation have not been entirely abandoned.

For example, Washington was the scene recently of an assembly of the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics, an event that brought from Secretary of State Hull the "fervent hope . . . that the day may soon come when the statesmen of the world will take a leaf from the book of the scientists and solve international problems in the same dignified and friendly spirit."

As indicated by Dr. Richard M. Field, Princeton professor and president of the American Geophysical Union, the world-wide organization which met at the nation's capital aims, as is the case with other branches of inquiry, to extend those frontiers of knowledge which make for good will and human enlightenment.

Here, certainly, is a road to peaceful understanding and progress that eventually must be followed within the realm of political economy if civilization is to survive and if man's conquest of nature is to be accompanied by conquest of himself.

Our chief trouble is that each citizen knows how to control mankind and wishes he knew how to control his three kids.

Scientists in search of rubber substitutes shouldn't overlook simple things. Have they ever noticed how a worm will stretch?

Already the war boom begins to be felt, as a Midwestern firm puts two more freight trains on the factory siding in the letter-head.

What ever becomes of the "reliable informant in close touch with the conferees," when he's through calling a wrong turn on Europe?

The new frontier brings together Hitler and the old sparring partner, Stalin. The boys now are only as far apart as what used to be the Poles.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LAGGARD OFTEN POOR READERS

Most children who lag or fail at school lag or fail in reading. As soon as the slow reader begins on such subjects as history, geography or civics commonly grouped as social studies, he is likely to lag or fail in these subjects since to learn them he must read.

The books in these subjects are all too hard for him, and to study a lesson in them may be drugery, even torture. On the average, proobably half the children above the third grade have next books too hard for them.

We expect the child to concentrate, to apply himself to study hard. But how can he concentrate how can he apply himself, well, how can he study hard when to do so means, that he must stumble over every other word or so, getting enough of them wrong to distract him and prevent him from acquiring the true sense or any sense at all? How can anybody keep his mind on a lesson with so many painful hindrances.

And then we parents and teachers are disposed to hound the slow reader, hurry him and chastise him for his slowness!

As I have often said in this column, we can help the poor reader above the second or third grade by inducing him to read from books several grades easier than the books meant for his grade. We can help him, most perhaps, if we will prevail upon him to read to pre-school children to entertain them. In doing so he naturally will read from very easy materials.

Read Easy Books

When I speak before groups of teachers, I constantly plead with them to set the child to read only from such books that are easy enough for him to read without difficulty, whatever grade he may be in, and however easy these books must be.

But what about the work he is supposed to do right now? Never mind that. He won't get it anyway at the present rate. Help him to improve his reading skill and he eventually may succeed in the regular work required. Some pupils are so poor in reading that they should not be expected to try to keep up with the regular work, for the present at least.

There are many students in the upper grades, high school, even college, who might make the grade if in addition to a reading program such as we have recommended some adult would read aloud to them from their assignments in such subjects as history, science, English By hearing such subjects read to them, they easily may learn the content and in doing so, may not only earn passing grades but so gain in confidence and encouragement as to muster up far more effort at digging hard for themselves. Such home association not only has practical value for the student's school progress but also affords an excellent means of parent-child companionship.

GROWTH

What happens to the infant small
When five-months-old begins to crawl?
And where has vanished five-months-old
When the first year away has rolled?

Jesting, I said, when she was four:
"Our pretty three-year-old's no more;
We'll never in the years to be
Behold again that child of three.

"At midnight as the balls are tolled
We'll lose our lovely three-year-old.
Tomorrow, cuddled in her bed,
We'll wake a four-year-old instead."

Well, what becomes along life's ways
Of all the vanished yesterdays,
And where is all our youthful crew
Which into men and women grew?

Where is the lad who didn't die
But walks the world today as I,
Quitting forever youth's bright stage
To trudge through paunchy middle-age?

Since growth is change succeeding change,
Is such a fancy much too strange:
That until comes Death's killing frost
No age is ever wholly lost.

An elderly widower married an old maid who was totally deaf. The neighbors gathered, with the customary instruments for the serenade, and proceeded to put on a full-sized performance, but got no response to their strenuous efforts.

After repeated calls the bridegroom finally stuck his head out of the window, saying that his wife did not even know that anything was going on. The leade replied that they all believed it was true and that they sympathized with her in her deafness. Inasmuch as the bridegroom had been serenaded in the usual way, they deemed it unfair to the bride to ignore her and demanded that she appear, as they had prepared something for her special benefit.

When she finally came to the door they put on a fireworks display. Who can beat that?

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: Please give me information on a processional for a home wedding . . . whether it forms upstairs or down, etc.—Bride.

Answer: When all is in readiness for the ceremony, one of the ushers (if there are ushers) should escort the bride's mother to her place in the front line of the guests, at the left, where the other members of the bride's family should join her.

Another usher should take the bridegroom's mother to a corresponding place on the right, where she should be joined by her husband and the rest of the groom's relatives.

The clergyman, the bridegroom and the best man then enter together from a door, preferably, near the end of the room where the ceremony will take place. The bridegroom and the best man should wait at the improvised altar for the bride to come in.

The ushers go upstairs where the bridal party waits to start the processional which forms in the upstairs hall. At the first sound of the wedding march the ushers walking two by two come down the stairs; next come the bridesmaids (two by two); then the maid-of-honor (alone); last, the bride on the right arm of her father.

"But why have you never said anything before?" he asked.

Europe's New War Hard To Figure
Proves Grand Puzzle To Everyone
Little News Gleaned By Reporters

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—From a newspaper standpoint this war is a very unsatisfactory conflict. It's frightfully expensive to "cover", and despite its costliness, it yields mighty little news that means anything to the innocent bystander. Heaven knows we get plenty of dispatches, and longer, too, than the moral law. That's one of the pestiferous features of the stuff. It's so voluminous that it crowds everything else out of the papers. There's no news but war news, until it gets tiresome. Which would be all right if there were a bit of reliability about the war dope; but nobody has the slightest idea how truthful any of it is. Between the corking up of facts by censorships and propagandists reports of events that didn't happen, the whole thing's too gummy to draw many conclusions from.

It was different during the 1914-'18 rumpus. The Germans bungled their publicity hopelessly at that time, and the Allies' was elegant. Maybe this was because there wasn't any radio broadcasting then and the Allies cut the Germans' cable. Anyhow, the propaganda was all pro-Ally.

German Propaganda

In 1939 the Germans, with the radio to help them, have propagandized to beat blazes. To be sure, neutrals take everything they say with about a barrel of salt. Still, they tell stories of Polish atrocities against Germans, just as the Allies, in 1914, told stories of German atrocities in Belgium. And in the present instance the Anglo-French

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

"AQUACROWD."

There is something the matter with the World's Fair being held in New York. Everyone who has been at the Fair says it is a most remarkable Fair, but there have not been many there; particularly, do New Yorkers turn a cold shoulder to it. The turnstiles don't clock as they should. There is a story going around that the amusements at the Fair are not drawing the crowds. The Plays given at the Old Globe Theater made great hits at the Chicago and San Diego Fairs, but at the New York Fair the Theater has had to fold up,—no interest in Shakespeare and it has been so with many others. The managers of the amusement area have naturally been in something less than ecstasy over the attendance records, a fact which was more than evident in their suggestion for a reduction in general admission to the Fair.

One or two of the attractions, however, have gone merrily along to the tune of clinking coins and the more dulcet sound of crinkling dollars at the ticket windows. Billy Rose's "Aquacade" has been one of these. In telling the story about this apparent exception to the rule, my narrator said that the other exhibitors have become very inquisitive. Some time ago a couple of competing showmen went over to the "Aquacade" to see what was going on. To their amazement they found that Mr. Rose really had a show. No mirrors, nothing up the sleeve, just a darned good show.

They saw beautiful girls who danced in unison, and others equally beautiful who swam in unison while an orchestra wafted sweet music across a beautiful lagoon. From the forty-cent seats, the swimmers were seen to form patterns in the water like lovely lace floating on a pond. There were glimpses of Coney Island in 1905 and Miami in 1939. A young man named Morton Downey, not entirely unknown as a radio and stage artist, sang sweet melodies, aided by Miss Frances Williams who has pepped up more than a couple of Broadway musicals.

Another young man, named Johnny Weissmuller of Movie and Olympic fame skirted through the water and then swam a duo with Miss Eleanor Holm. There were Gertrude (English Channel) Elderle and six or sexen Olympic and international diving champions, and to top it off a group of daffy builders who have toured the nation's vaudeville theaters under the name of West & McGinty.

The concessionaires looked at the program and say that the various performers were called aquabelles, aquadonises, aquabuilders and aquadivers.

Finally a smile replaced the worried look on the face of one. He nudged his companion, and with a wave of his hand at the packed audience said:

"It's just a gag. Rose forgot to mention them in the program."

"What do you mean?" whatted his companion.

"All the people," he replied. "They're not people at all. It's just an aquacrowd."

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Slurs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.

THE debate over the embargo started off in the Senate this week on a fairly high plane, but the newspaper correspondents in the Senate press gallery, who certainly are the best judges of Senate situations will be surprised if it continues long at that level.

IT is the view of these that after the more intelligent men on both sides have expressed themselves, the third, fourth and fifth rate fellows will surge to the front and we will be in for a deluge of blatancy, bombast and bunk lasting several weeks. In other words, the widely advertised idea that this debate will be dramatic and historic, comparable to the old days of Webster and Clay or even to those of the great League of Nations battle twenty years ago, is not well founded.

THERE will be a few really good speeches—eloquent, logical, forceful and wholly free from demagoguery. But there will be many more of the soapbox variety from the breast beaters and fence straddlers. Also it is fairly certain these will not be devoid of bitterness, personalities and politics. It seems a pity that with the neutral as well as belligerent nations at attention and so much hinging upon the issue restraint tolerance and good temper should not dominate the discussion. Perhaps forecasts such as this may have a tendency to refute themselves and discourage the professional patriots of the cheaper type. It is to be hoped so. Nothing would be pleasanter then, in this matter to be proved a completely false prophet.

NEVERTHELESS, there are already disquieting signs which lend substance to the fear that before the struggle ends the Senate may make an exhibition of itself in the eyes of the world which will mortify decent Americans regardless of their feeling about the bill and irrespective of their party or factional affiliations. There are men in the Senate fully capable of doing exactly that, and the abler members of the Senate, appreciating the national humiliation involved, are concerned to find ways of checking them.

THE most disturbing development of the last few days is the tendency to impute petty motives to and assign unworthy reasons for the attitude of certain conspicuous figures in the debate. This sort of stuff has begun to flavor cloakroom conversations and to find its way into print. It comes from a certain type of extreme New Dealer, in the Senate and out, and it is being spread by some of the recognized journalistic reflectors of the Administration strategists. For example among other things, it is being said that Senator Vandenberg's position is wholly inspired by a desire to promote his Presidential candidacy, that Senator La Follette is only anxious to revive his Progressive party in Wisconsin; that Senator Bennett Clark, of Missouri, is animated by inherited hate of Wilson, who defeated his father for the Presidential nomination, thus impelling him to join the isolationists.

THAT kind of slur is not only silly, but it is shameful. Senators Vandenberg, LaFollette and Clarke are just as much entitled to credit for sincerity and patriotism, in wanting to retain the embargo as Mr. Roosevelt is for wantin g to repeal it. Whether you agree with them or not it is not easy to hear or read things like that about these men without resentment. It is interesting that the keenest resentment should be felt by the anti-New Deal Democratic senators who are on the President's side of the embargo fight. If, as is threatened any of these whisperings come out on the floor, it will be leaders in that group, who will make the counter-attack—and it will be a real one.

THE FACT is, of course, that Mr. Vandenberg has exhibited unusual courage in taking a stand which, while wholly consistent with his record, undoubtedly involves great personal political risk. Senator La-Follette's views have been known so long and so well that any other position for him would have meant stultification. As for Senator Clark, there is no sense and less justice in the slurs at him. A strong, able honest man, who fought in the first line trenches, and knows the horrors of war from personal experience, his stand is due to the strongest kind of personal convictions. The effort to belittle him by going back to the Wilson-Clark fight of 1912 is absurd and no one deplores it as much as the better-class men on the other side.

THEIR feeling is that if Mr. Roosevelt wants to help in this fight the most effective thing he can do is to find some means to check the unjustifiable outpourings of some of his White House aides rubber-stamp Senatorial friends and journalistic supporters. If he does not before the struggle is over and though he may win, there is likely to be an explosion that will make everybody hang their heads and put "national unity" out the window.

Party Leaders In State Push Eleventh Hour Drive For Enrollments

By EVERETT C. GERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 6.—Republicans and Democrats alike put on eleventh-hour drives today to register voters for the November elections. Tomorrow night is the deadline for new enrollments.

Party chairmen asked workers in all counties to strive for registration increases before the deadline expires. Telegrams were dispatched to the 67 county chairmen by Republican State Chairman James F. Torrance.

Although the totals of new registrants were not expected to be large, the Republicans were claiming the bigger gains. Approximately 4,500,000 voters were registered in Pennsylvania for the September primary.

Torrance and David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, professed to see a re-awakening of public interest in the November 7 elections (the war, world series and want of cash notwithstanding.)

Satisfied that unity has been restored to the G. O. P. since the primary, Torrance predicted that the Republicans will "build a tombstone over the New Deal" in Pennsylvania at the election next month.

"The Republican party has made important gains in the enrollment of new voters throughout Pennsylvania," he said. "I accept this as proof that there is a deep interest, and not apathy, among Republicans in the approaching election, this of course, means victory.

"We erected one tombstone last November over the New Deal in Pennsylvania. This year, we will build an even bigger one out of the top-heavy Republican plurality of voters."

What's What At A Glance

censorships have ruthlessly clamped down on dispatches from London and Paris, so that they haven't any overseas publicity worth speaking of.

We're fairly sure of a few spot events—that Hitler virtually has cleaned up Poland; that the premier of Rumania was assassinated.

We're not dead certain of much else.

For instance, we haven't a definite idea of conditions along the line between Germany and the Anglo-French forces.

Our military men are as puzzled over that situation as the veriest amateur is. It's described by professionals as, apparently, having been largely "shadow boxing". But even experts can't tell positively, due to censors and propagandists.

State Department Worried

Our state department is worse worried than our war and navy departments are. War Secretary Harry Woodring and Acting Navy Secretary Charles Edison are in a position to sit tight and let nature take its course. State Secretary Cordell Hull has varying foreign ministries to reckon with. We even have in Washington a couple of diplomatic representatives of extinct governments—still accredited to us and still recognized. It's difficult for the state department to tell which is which in such international negotiations.

The state department's notion is that, thus far, the war has been mainly diplomatic rather than physical. True, it's been plenty physical enough in Poland, but elsewhere it appears to have been principally a contest of wits between and among rival foreign offices.

Sorting the nations into any two groups (or three, counting the neutrals as a third group) virtually is an impossibility.

Generally speaking their respective governments themselves don't yet know who's side they're on. They're still dickering around after whatever partnership promises best to advance their various individual interests.

What a Hodge-Podge!

The Anglo-French tieup seems pretty solid. Yet Herr Hitler is represented as being as gentle as he can with the French, in the hope of detaching them from the British.

Signor Mussolini, hitherto supposedly the Fuehrer's bosom buddy, is on the sidlines because he can't see how Italy will get anything out of the pending mixup. It's hinted that London and Paris are trying to buy him up completely, with territorial concessions.

Stalin, after double-crossing the British and French by his pact with Hitler, now notoriously doesn't trust the latter a bit farther than he can see him. Just as notoriously, Hitler equally doesn't trust Stalin.

General Franco, having been aided by Germany and Italy during the Spanish civil war, was expected at least to threaten France from his side of the Pyrenees. Instead, he's strictly neutral, partly because he's preoccupied with Spain's reconstruction and partly because he hopes to sell the French so much of his own country's iron ore—with which to fight Hitler.

The British and French thought they had Turkey sewed up tight to control the eastern end of the Mediterranean. Today the Turks are confabulating with Russia.

URGES REMOVAL OF NATION'S CAPITAL

(International News Service)

DENVER—Removal of the United States capital from the staid East to the more progressive West was advocated by the Rev. Edward Dowling, S. J. of St. Louis, Mo., nationally famous economist, who taught at the Summer School of Catholic Action, recently in Denver.

Asserting that the capitol is now "one hundred and fifty years east of America" and that by removing it to a more centralized point, possibly Denver, a great covered wagon trek of realtors and "hot dog vendors" might be drawn west, similar to the gold boom days at Cripple Creek, Father Dowling startled his audience equally as much as he did earlier in the sessions when he suggested granting suffrage to youngsters of seven years of age, thereby educating them in their duties as voters.

The deepest river gorges are found in dry countries. In such a climate a stream will deepen a gorge faster at the bottom than rain and atmospheric action can fill it.

SWINGING ARMS WHILE WALKING IS CALLED GOOD SIGN

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Do you swing your arms as you walk along?

If you do, it's a good indication you are mentally healthy, University of California medical scientists state.

Absence of this arm-swinging movement while walking may well indicate certain types of mental diseases, experiments at the medical school in San Francisco have revealed.

Dr. Robert Wartenberg, neurologist, who made the studies conducted over several years said the significance of involuntary arm-swinging deserves more attention.

CHECK BUILDINGS TO PREVENT FUTURE FIRES

Although precautions should be taken every day in the year to prevent damaging fires, the week of October 9 to 14 has been designated as "Fire Prevention Week."

Barn fires during the recent haying season added emphasis to the necessity of properly curing hay before storage. The fallacy of wetting hay in the mow to stop spontaneous combustion was demonstrated a number of times.

Lightning has also taken its toll of buildings and livestock even though excellent protective standards have been developed. When the standard lightning rod system is kept in repair, it is 98 per cent efficient.

With th approach of winter, the likelihood of barn fires decreases, and the danger of farm house fires becomes greater. Statistics show that only one per cent of farm fires are in buildings other than the house or barn. Approximately two-thirds of the farm fires occur in dwellings and most of the remainder in barns.

More than 70 per cent of farm fires are the result of two major causes. Most barn fires start from lightning or spontaneous combustion. House fires are traced most frequently to defective chimneys and sparks on roofs. Fire prevention week is a good time to repair all chimney tops, and at the same time install a spark guard.

A spark guard, is one of the best means for breaking up sparks as they come out of the chimney. They usually are made of several sections of heavy mesh wire and are fastened securely to the chimney. They reduce chunks of glowing soot from soft coal or wood to small particles, affording a measure of protection for buildings having combustible roofs.

Improperly protected stove pipes which pass through frame walls or too closely to board partitions are almost as dangerous as starting a fire with kerosene. Many fires result from some form of carelessness and could be prevented by following a few relatively simple precautionary measures.

GARDEN COVER CROPS ADD ORGANIC MATTER

The importance of organic matter in the soil was brought out repeatedly by the dry summer and fall. Much can be done at this season to improve the soil for the production of next year's crops.

Remaining crops and weeds should either be removed or plowed under along with a good coat of manure. The best plan is to remove and destroy diseased crops and weeds. This will lessen contamination next season.

Even before cabbage and other crops have been harvested, rye or wheat may be seeded between the rows. When the seeding can be competed early, rye grass, sown at the rate of one bushel per acre, is excellent. Two bushels per acre is the usual rate of seeding wheat or rye for cover crops.

A convenient method is to sow rye or wheat after most of the crops have been harvested for storage. Discing or cultivating the ground is suggested. The cover crop will make the garden more attractive during the winter. The penetration of millions of fibrous roots will make the soil more productive next season.

PLANT BULBS FOR LATE WINTER BLOSSOMS NOW

Begin making plans for planting bulbs if you desire indoor blooms late next winter. Quality of bulbs and the development of good root systems is important.

It is absolutely essential to use good soil. An excellent mixture will include two parts good live garden soil, one part sharp sand, and one part leaf mold or granulated peat. Sheep manure may be used at the rate of one pound per bushel of soil. Bulbs need plenty of moisture during development and so the soil must be porous.

Either pots or pans may be used for containers. Tulips usually look better in pans than in pots. Hyacinths may be planted singly in pots.

Many prefer to use moss at the base of the container rather than broken pottery as it retains moisture for the roots. When moss is used, a layer an inch deep is sufficient. Placing a few pieces of charcoal on the moss will help sweeten the soil. Prepared soil is then put in the container. The bulbs are placed so that the tops are on a level with the edge of the container. The remaining space is filled with sand. After the soil has been watered thoroughly, the containers may be placed out-of-doors for several days.

The usual practice is to store the containers on a cool concrete or earthen basement floor, covering them with a 3-inch layer of coal ashes. The ideal temperatures range from 55 to 60 degrees for daytime, and 45 to 55 degrees for night.

PULLETS IN ORCHARD EAT TOO MUCH FRUIT

Poultrymen raising pullets in orchards frequently complain at this season because their birds are thin and lack pigment. This condition is often the result of the birds eating too much fallen fruit. The fruit doesn't harm the birds except that it reduces the consumption of regular grain and mash feeds.

A ration of fruit alone does not provide the nutrients needed by the pullets. Body weight and pigment suffer. Combs, face and wattles of birds eating heavily of fallen fruit usually will be discolored by the fruit juices.

One of the simplest methods of correcting the situation with nearly mature growing stock is to move the birds to the laying quarters.

CHOOSE KITCHEN GADGETS THAT PAY THEIR WAY

Housewares departments are full of a thousand and one fascinating gadgets, all designed to make the homemaker's lot easier. If she is susceptible she could in a few hours, succumb to enough of them to overcrowd her kitchen.

The homemaker's problem is to select only those which will pay for the place they will take up, says Miss Julia Markle, home economics extension representative of Lawrence County. Many a gadget seems practical by the fetching tricks of the demonstrator, but after the novelty of its use wears off, we have it as a dust catcher or a space occupier in our kitchen.

Gadgets do not become dust catchers unless the homemaker is on vacation, for gadgets do things that either cannot be done by hand or require more time and energy if done by hand. Gadgets do more than one thing, they are simple, easy to set up, use and easy to clean, and they will be used again and again.

As we stroll past these tempting displays let's adopt an attitude of resistance unless a gadget will meet these tests. There are some that will do it.

Measuring cups and spoon—the most modern and efficient of these are the sets of nested cups and spoons in tin or in bright colored composition material to match our kitchen color scheme. The sets consist of cups 1-4, 1-3, and 1-2, and 1 cup capacity and spoons 1-4, 1-2, and 1 teaspoon, and 1 tablespoon. The sifted flour can be heaped into the half-cup and leveled off with the back of the knife.

Care must be given in selecting cups and spoons of standard measurement, Miss Markle points out. Cups with wooden handles are easier to use for melting substances.

Most American kitchens have a can opener. Like all other equipment there are can openers and can openers. Some leave a ragged edge and other leaves a comparatively smooth edge which eliminated the cutting hazard. Most of the new-fashioned can openers we can operate with a turn of the wrist after inserting the cutting point into the can. Others may be fastened to the wall. These may have other attachments such as a knife sharpener.

A wooden spoon is a good investment, Miss Markle believes. Its comfortable grip handle and length make it excellent for cake mixing, it doesn't get hot.

For greater effeciency, she urges us to select a spoon with a bowl that is almost flat, without slits in the bowl, and one that is rounded on the end with a handle that fits comfortably in our hand and balances as we stir.

A rubber scraper, sometimes called a plate scraper, is a gadget with many uses. The last drop of better may be scraped from the bowl, egg beaters and jars can be easily cleaned, not to mention plates, pots, and pans which make a saving in food and dish washing.

A double-bladed scraper with one square corner and one round corner, giving a flat and curved side, will take care of almost any shaped utensil in which we may want to use it. One caution—it won't last long if used to scrape hot foods or utensils. Some homemakers have found a flexible putty knife most useful for hot cereals and fudge pans.

The person who can find new uses for a gadget has that article paying its way. The gadget that spends too many days in the kitchen unused is a mistake. Although that article may have cost but a dime, it has proved a loss.

New England Storm Scars Healing Fast

Few Traces Remain Of Big Blow Which Caused Tremendous Damage

ARMY OF WORKERS WIPES OUT TRACES

(International News Service)

BOSTON.—On the first anniversary of the "big blow" of 1938—a lashing hurricane which took 680 lives and caused $400,000,000 in property damage—New England finds the scars of the storm substantially healed.

It was a devastating blow which nature struck New England in late September last year—a terrific blast which levelled 18,731 buildings and damaged 50,000 more. It mowed down 31,292 telephone poles, sank 2,605 boats and damaged 3,339 others. It destroyed 1,091 head of cattle and 277,076 poultry.

700 Known Dead

There were almost 700 bodies disentombed from the wreckage and 1,754 persons required hospitalization.

In the year that has passed since the big blow most of the physical traces of the storm have been effaced. In the months immediately following the hurricane an army of 200,000 persons labored to restore homes, roads, telephones, power lines and bridges.

In the stricken forest, choked with fallen timber that soon became a fire menace, 50,000 men worked to salvage the wood and remove dangers of forest fires.

A division of 14,000 CCC, WPA and United States forestry emergency workers led the fight to clear the forests.

Farmers Salvage Timber

Almost 10,000 New England farmers took advantage of the forestry emergency service to contract for salvage of 1,600,000,000 board feet of timber. Of this amount 875,000,000 board feet will have been brought out of the woods in marketable condition by next spring.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MISTAKE FOR PARENTS TO DISCONTINUE CHILD'S AFTERNOON SLEEP

The difficult time to get a child to take the proper amount of rest is after he has passed the age of two years. As I have bentioned before, a very young child naturally takes as much rest as he needs. It isn't until play becomes so very important to him that it begins to be hard for him to make up his mind whether to play or sleep.

Of course a peaceful household is a great help in getting children to rest. By "peaceful" I don't mean a house where the people are quiet when the child is sleeping, but a house where there are few if any quarrels.

I think I have said before that a two-year-old should waken at seven in the morning, remain awake until after lunch and then get about three hours sleep.

As he grows older, the afternoon nap will shorten. He will be given more liberty to play with children away from his own home and as a result it will be harder to get him to stay in the house in the afternoon and take his rest.

I have known parents who allowed the afternoon sleep to be discontinued at the age of three because the child didn't like to go to bed then. I think that is a great mistake. Children should continue the afternoon rest until they start to school. Of course the rest period may be shortened, but I think a child should get an hour's sleep every afternoon until he enters school, which would be at the age of six or seven.

There is only one way of keeping up this routine, and that is by seeing to it that nothing interferes with it. Sometimes parents let the child go without the rest period on a day when it is inconvenient for them to stay at home. The five-year-old is then going to think it is unreasonable for the parents to insist on the afternoon rest on some day when he wants to do something he thinks is important.

That afternoon sleep is important, don't make any mistake about it. You all know how often you would like to lie down after lunch for forty winks. Just think how much more important it is for the child to have that sleep. He is growing and is using up a lot more energy than you are.

Some children provide little trouble when it comes to making them sleep. They seem quite ready to have a sleep when the afternoon comes. But there are other children who fight the rest period as much as they can. Sometimes the tendency is to give in to them, and this is wrong. Actually the placid child that goes to sleep with no trouble doesn't need the sleep as much as the nervous, high-strung youngster who kicks up a fuss. Very often you find that such a child also has a smaller appetite than his quieter playmate. With his small appetite and small stature he needs rest, to use his food for body requirements and so that energy expended in playing won't require all his calories.

I have at times been called to see a child because his mother noted that when he slept he jerked and twitched. In almost every such case lack of rest was the trouble. I know it is easy for a mother to let down gradually in the matter of the afternoon nap, and let it get shorter and shorter. For that reason I always advise mothers to take stock of themselves every few months. Just sit down and think back. Have you maintained your routines. Have you seen to it that your child has gone to bed every afternoon? Have you seen to it that he has stayed there as long as he should?

If you do this periodically, you will catch any points that have slipped.

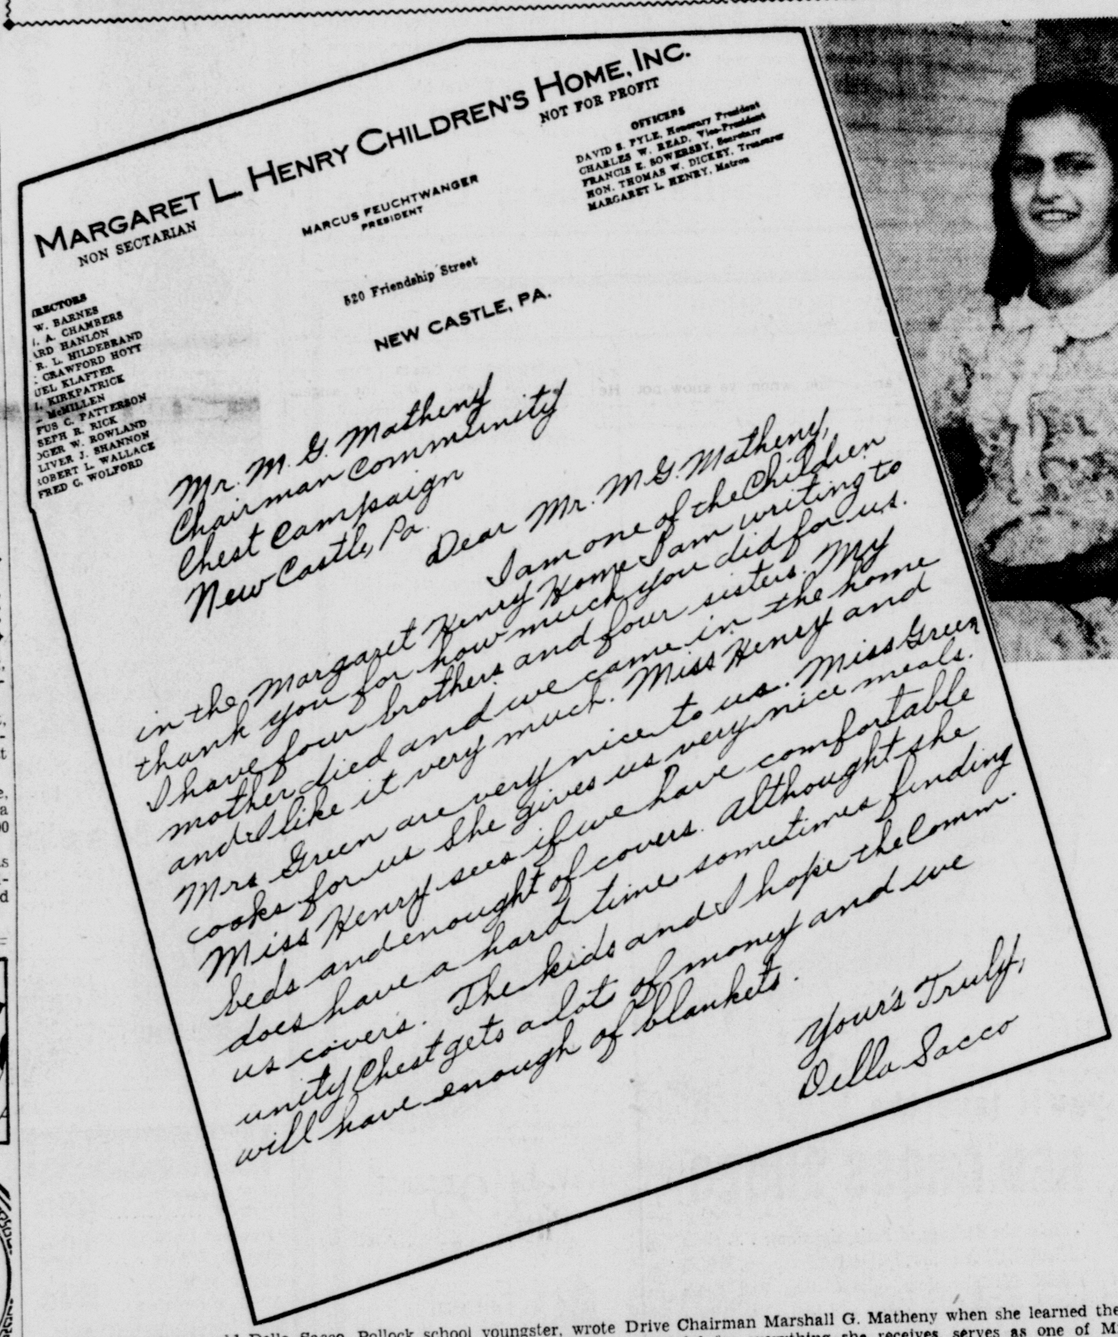
"Thanks," Writes Della, Hoping '39 Chest Succeeds



Smiling 10-year-old Della Sacco, Pollock school youngster, wrote Drive Chairman Marshall G. Matheny when she learned the 1939 campaign will open October 16. One of 33 children now at the Henry home, Della, grateful for everything she receives, serves as one of Miss Margaret L. Henry's dining room helpers. The major support for the Margaret Henry home comes from the annual Community Chest campaign.

RECOUNT OF WET AND DRY VOTE IS TAKEN TO COURT

them and if there was any substantial difference now there was "something wrong".

In the official recount on the Democratic ballots only one ballot was shown to be marked "no". This was immediately challenged by members of the board and by a number of Democratic voters in the precinct who say they voted "no". If they did their votes must have been changed for the ballots now show one "no" on the Democratic ticket.

Board Members

The election board in the second precinct of Hickory township is composed of the following: Judge, Mabel Gormley; minority inspector, Oscar W. McConahy; majority inspector, Lois McConnell; clerks, Mary H. Kildoo and Mabel Moser.

The voters of the precinct who signed the petition are Loy C. Patton, Charles B. Patton, Norman Y. Patton, Mary L. Wagner, Martha E. Patton, Elizabeth H. Graham, Velma E. Patton, Lena F. Patton, Mary J. Mercer, A. W. Mercer, Lenna A. Stewart, George H. Moore, Glenn C. Harper, Robert Cameron, R. C. Gormley and H. W. Newman.

In the petition, which was presented to Judge Dickey by Assistant District Attorney L. K. Donaldson, the petitioners set out that they are citizens and qualified electors of the second precinct of Hickory township; that they are persons aggrieved by an order and decision dated October 4, 1939, of the Lawrence county court; that they believe a number of ballots were mutilated with a view to rendering them void, and that the court should suspend the certification of the official recount until a hearing can be held. Notice of the hearing to be served upon the election board, and Frank Rung, Adam Masterson, Sam Wellman, Jr., and Joseph Kneram, the latter three being the men who first petitioned for the opening of the ballot boxes.

The district attorney's office is determined to get to the bottom of what appears to be another "ballot box scandal" in this county. "Upon the face of it, and from the statements of the election board members there appears to be grounds for the belief that these ballots have been tampered with," said Assistant District Attorney L. K. Donaldson. "We expect to sift every piece of evidence we can get in an effort to determine whether or not such is the case and if it is, prosecutions will probably follow."

Last Thursday afternoon a delegation of citizens of Hickory township visited the district attorney's office and urged that an investigation be made. Their statements were that the ballots had been tampered with, in their opinion, and they urged action. They got it immediately and County Detective Paul A. Welsh immediately set about summoning persons who might have information in the matter.

Almira Home Food Donation Day Approaches

October 18 Annual Food Donation Day; Department Of Welfare Commends Home

FOOD, JELLIES ARE SOLICITED

October 18—a week from next Wednesday—is Almira Home food donation day, when friends of the city, county and surrounding counties are asked to contribute to the home for aged women food, jellies and kitchen supplies that will keep. This is an annual solicitation and the people of the community have always been very generous.

The Almira Home, on East Washington street at Almira avenue, is an institution of which New Castle has long been proud. It is a spacious, comfortable home for women advanced in age, and serves several counties in Northwestern Pennsylvania. It is a home in the real sense of the word and is conducted in such an intelligent way that it has attracted state-wide interest.

Appended is a letter received from the department of welfare by Mrs. Howard C. Harper, of this city, president of the Almira Home board of directors:

July 18, 1939.

Mrs. Howard C. Harper
President, Board of Directors
Almira Home for Aged Women
1001 East Washington Street
New Castle, Pennsylvania.

My Dear Mrs. Harper:

Our Field Representative's report of her visit to the Almira Home for the Aged, dated June 7, 1939, has been brought to my attention.

The excellent care and treatment given your guests and the general condition of the entire building is commendable and a credit to your Board of Directors.

Please be assured of our interest and cooperation.

Very truly yours,
ROSEMARY REINHOLD,
Director,
Bureau of Community Work.

President Looks Over His Christmas Trees For Market

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the country squire has gone to his Hyde Park, N. Y., estate to see how many Christmas trees he would have for the market this year.

Assured by senate leaders that prolonged debate would prevent any action on neutrality during the week end, President Roosevelt planned to play country squire for a few days.

Stephen T. Early, secretary to Mr. Roosevelt, said the president's principal reason for going to Hyde Park was to draft his tree planting and tree-cutting charts so that he can later check them with state forestry officials at Syracuse, N. Y.

According to Early, the president planted about 30,000 trees on the 1,200 acres of Hyde Park last year but the drought killed 26,000 of the number plants and more than 4,000 of the older stands.

The president planned to draw up plans for next year and submit them to Syracuse for suggestions. He also was to look over present stands to see how many trees he would have for the Christmas market.

SURPRISE PACKAGE

(International News Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Here's one surprise package that was perhaps just a little too surprising. Surprised was E. J. Schiedel, manager of a Vancouver branch of the Bank of Montreal, who found the package on the bank's window sill when he came to work. Schiedel tore the newspaper wrapping from the package—and then got elsewhere in a hurry. The "surprise" bundle contained six sticks of dynamite.

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

"Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make His paths straight."—Matthew 3:3.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 8 is Matthew 3, the Golden Text being Matthew 3:3. "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make His paths straight.)

JOHN THE BAPTIST, who is the subject of today's lesson, is a unique character in the chronicle of the Bible. When he began preaching some thought him the Messiah, but he said. "No, I am not the Christ." And they asked him. "What then? Art thou Elias?" And he said, "I am not." "Art thou that prophet?" And he answered. "No."

Then they asked, "Who are thou?" And John said, "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness. Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the prophet Elias."

Further John said, "I baptize with water: but there standeth one among you, whom ye know not; He it is, who coming after me is preferred before me, whose shoe's latchet I am not worthy to unloose."

Like the prophets of the Old Testament John the Baptist dared tell those in power of their sins. The common people loved him and followed him out of Jerusalem to the east shore of the Jordan river, and he baptized them therein. The Phariseees and Sadducees also came to him to be baptized, and when he saw them he called them names and told them to repent, for although they were the sons of Abraham they could not be saved except they did what was right.

Fulfillment of Prophecy

John was said to be the fulfillment of an old prophecy in which the Lord said: "Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me." (Malachi 3:1.)

Jesus came to John and asked to be baptized. John was reluctant, saying, "I have need to be baptized by Thee, and comest Thou to me?"

Jesus answered, "Suffer it to be so now, for thus it becometh us to fulfill all rightousness." So John baptized Christ.

"And Jesus, when He was baptized, went up straightway out of the water, and lo, the heavens opened unto Him, and He saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon Him: And lo, a voice from heaven, saying, 'This is my Beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased'."

Baptism, as given by John meant that the persons baptized repented of his sins and would henceforth live a good life. John could see no reason why Jesus would need baptism, as He had no sins to repent.

We do not know, either, why Jesus felt He must be baptized by John, but it is sufficient that He did. After His baptism and the voice, the account says the Spirit drove Him into the wilderness, where He stayed for 40 days and was tempted by Satan; and was with wild beasts. But the angels ministered to Him.

Jesus Begins Preaching

Soon after this John the Baptist was put into prison and Jesus went into Galilee and preached the Gospel of the Kingdom of God.

"The time is fulfilled," St. Mark says (Mark 1:15), "and the Kingdom of God is at hand, repent ye, and believe the Gospel."

Walking by the Sea of Galilee Jesus saw two fishermen, Simon and Andrew, his brother, casting a net into the sea. And Jesus said to them, "Come ye after me and I will make you to become fishers of men." And the two left their net and followed Him.

Our last lesson, you remember was about the child Jesus who was taken to Egypt by His parents after Joseph His father had been warned to go in a dream. Later they returned and settled in Nazareth, and today's lesson occurred 29 years later, when Jesus was a grown man.

The Bible description of John the Baptist is interesting: "And the same John had his raiment of camels hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins; and his meat was locusts and wild honey." There are a number of locusts in the Far East that are edible, so that such a diet was not so unattractive to him as it would be to us. His message caused much excitement. "I baptize with water" he said. "But He that cometh after me is mightier than I . . . He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire."

So far the return judges, counting the returns of the recent primary, have had to bring in fifteen ballot boxes. Three of the boxes were opened in court, for the purpose of making an official count of the ballots. In the other twelve errors were found which could be adjusted by the board. Either lack of knowledge or carelessness in the preparation of returns by election boards, is largely responsible for the delay in getting the official figures of returns. The large number of names written in for township offices, has also served to hold up the county. More ballot boxes have been brought in than has been necessary for years.

Samuel Peluso, of Ellwood City, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Armour and Company in which he is asking $1,009 damages for injuries to a tooth caused by allegedly finding a piece of steel in meat.

The new part of the court house, now under construction, will also be painted white as soon as completed, to conform with the balance of the building. ODD GRAVESTONE MARKER

(International News Service)

MERCER, Me. — Ancient burying grounds of many New England cities and towns display grave markers bearing odd inscriptions.

Probably the most unusual of all, however, is the old mill stone found in the local churchyard. Set in the stone is a brass placque, bearing the inscription:

"In memory of an Elm Tree which stood in 1870 on the east branch of the stream 3-5 north of the village bridge. It was 32 feet in circumference, breast high, and was believed to be the largest tree ever grown in New England."

Babson Presents Ideas About China's Future; Writes From Shanghai

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1939, Publishers Financial Bureau)

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 6.—I do not blame the Japanese for wanting to develop China. Their mistake is in the method they are using. The Japanese are strong on military strategy but they are weak on diplomatic psychology. They fail to realize that the world is ruled by feelings — rather than by figures. Perhaps the blame for the present unfortunate situation belongs to the Americans and English for not taking a hand when Secretary Stimson urged such action ten years ago. That, however, is now water over the dam.

BABSON

No event in history compares with the great evacuation and migration of the people of Northeastern China during the past two years. Think of it! From 30,000,000 to 50,000,000 people have deserted their homes, packed their few clothes and heirlooms in push carts, and moved from 500 to 1,500 miles inland. The few rich went by planes; the middle-class crowded boats and buses; but 80 per cent of them walked! And this migration is still going on as I write.

Scourging A Nation

As these people leave, they destroy what they cannot move. After taking out all the machinery in a factory, they burn the factory. After moving this machinery on a railroad, they tear up the rails. After getting the train over a bridge, they blow up the bridge. While here, I met a man who saw Chinese coolies who had been carrying railroad rails on their shoulders for over 100 miles into the interior. These acts of courage and perseverance are what have astonished the Japanese.

What interests me most is where these Chinese settle. They not only get away from a navigable river; but they avoid a prairie country. They select a spot by a small rapid stream of pure water within a mile or two of rugged hills where fertile land lies between the hills and the river. They use the river for their water-supply; they till the meadow for their food; and they dig caves in the hillside for their homes, shops, and little factories.

"World Of Tomorrow"

If bombing planes are to determine the course of nations, then the Chinese are now blazing the trail for the "World of Tomorrow." Furthermore, while the Japanese are fighting communism, they are driving 100,000,000 Chinese to the most effective socialistic living witnessed since the time of the Early Christians. My few days in China convince me that, unless world peace is soon assured, large cities are now at their maximum size. Decentralization is ahead everywhere.

What will be the outcome of the present conflict? It will be a Japanese military victory. Furthermore, when one hears here on the ground both sides of the story, he begins to realize that the Japanese also have an argument. It is true that they have done heartless things and murdered thousands of innocent women and children, but such is modern warfare. The Japanese now have the large eastern Chinese cities and they will hold them for some years. Their armies have already penetrated China as far as they wish.

Will China Be Split In Two?

The undecided question is (1) whether China will be split into two nations—Northeastern China, controlled by Japanese through puppet rulers, and the rest of China under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek or (2) whether Chiang will be captured or overthrown so that all China will, for a time, become under Japanese domination. In either case, China will never be at peace again until the Japanese are absorbed. Everyone here feels that to reverse the centuries-old process of China's absorbing her conquerors is too big a job for even the Japanese to solve.

Certainly, Japan has a wonderful opportunity here. Her future, however, depends upon how she treats the Chinese people. Japan should not forget China—thanks to American missionaries—is passing through a great spiritual revival. War lords whose families have for generations fought one another are now joining forces. China is learning much from this rebirth of patriotism. If Japan is wise enough to capitalize on this change, historians may some day write that this war marked a milestone in the development of both China and Japan. If, however, Japan fails psychologically, all her military strength will have been for naught.

"Open Door" Shut Tight

The Japanese have established a strict censorship of all business as a result of new regulations. The banks are doing very little business and, of course, most of the rich Chinese have fled to the interior or to foreign ports. Japanese came aboard our ship when we landed here. Their doctors looked at our tongues and their officials looked at our baggage. This interference with commerce and business and these dictatorial practices will surely last throughout the war—and probably throughout Japan's so-called Five Year Plan of Rehabilitation. So it looks like the "Open Door" is closed to Occidentals—at least for many years to come.

I am very fond of the Japanese as a people. I have had one in my home for fifteen years. He has been faithful and kindly. Some of my books have been translated into Japanese and I have other contacts. I can sympathize with them for being provoked at China. The Japanese are a wonderful race. If they are now fair with China and the rest of the world, the Chinese "incident"—as they call it—may eventually help both nations. Let us hope that Japan will not make the same mistake in settling with China that the Allies made in settling with Germany in 1919. Japan will be victorious in the end only by being just and generous now.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

There is a murder for every day in the year in Pennsylvania.

Who kills, why, and with what?

Seventy per cent of murderers are white.

The average age of murderers is 32½ years.

The average mental age of 75 per cent of them is 11 years.

Many murders are committed over some trifle.

Murder is defined as killing a person with malice.

First degree murder is premeditated, deliberate killing.

Second degree murder occurs during robbery or attack.

Fifty-one per cent of murders are committed with guns.

How can the number of murders be reduced?

Control of human passion seems the only answer.

September Marked By Excessive Heat

Temperature Ranges Five Degrees Per Day Over Normal For Month

September proved excessively hot, an average of five degrees per day over the normal being recorded here by U. S. Weather Observer B. F. Johnson. A mild drought which existed during the early part of the month was broken by several nice rains during the last week of the month, resulting in a slight excess of precipitation.

The mean maximum temperature was 83.6 degrees, the mean minimum was 52.9 degrees, and the mean or average, 68.3 degrees. The normal temperature for September is 64.3 degrees, the excess being exactly five degrees per day. The highest temperature during the month was 97 degrees on September 16, the hottest of the entire summer, and the lowest was 37 degrees on the 18th. The greatest daily range was 41 degrees on September 7.

Days with .01 inches or more of precipitation were 10, days clear, 12; partly cloudy, 12; and cloudy, 6.

The total precipitation for the month was 3.81 inches, while the normal precipitation for the month is 3.01 inches, an excess of .80 inches being noted. The greatest precipitation in 24 hours occurred on September 27, when .85 inches was noted.

In September, 1938, there was an excess of 1.04 inches in precipitation, but the temperature was 1.3 degrees under the normal.

But why is it that decent, loyal, true Americans are the only ones who mustn't say anything to stir up prejudice?

EDUCATION NEGLECTED

They say that a certain citizen went to a party and after a few snorts entered so heartily into the spirit of things that he started out on a one-man kissing crusade.

After he had been active a while this indignant comment was heard from one fair one:

"The very idea of it. A married man like him shouldn't be kissing girls the way he does."

"Certainly not," said another. "What sort of a wife has he got who couldn't teach him any better than that?"

Thursday Program At Williamsport Convention

Uplifting music, spiritual fellowship, instructive afternoons, inspiring evenings—these are all a part of the program of the 77th convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association which convenes in Williamsport next Tuesday, October 10, and continues through and including Friday, October 13. Most of the delegation from Lawrence county will leave Tuesday morning in order to be on hand for the opening session at 7:30 Tuesday evening at the Pine Street M. E. church.

The programs of Tuesday evening and all day Wednesday have been given in issues of this paper. The program for Thursday, October 12, is as follows: The morning sessions will be held at the Pine Street Methodist church and delegates will be seated together by counties. At 9 o'clock there will be a period for hymns, prayers and meditation in charge of Rev. Ball and Mr. and Mrs. Eddowes. After announcements, offering and staff introduction, an address will be given on the subject, "Faith To Give," by Rev. T. F. Henry, Ph.D. The gathering of the offering and the underwriting for the coming year will be in charge of the finance committee, Prof. O. R. Myers, chairman, Joseph M. Steele, John D. Duff, Morgan H. Thomas, H. C. Heckerman, Hon. Charles Steele and H. E. Paisley. After a hymn the morning address, 'Leaders For The World Today," will be delivered by Dr. Henry S. Leiper, New York City.

Thursday afternoon the divisional conferences will be held. The children's department will meet at the First Evangelical church and after a worship period, Miss Pearl Rosser will speak on the subject, "The Parent A Teacher Of Religion." The young people's division will meet at the First Baptist church, and after worship service, Dr. Henry Smith Leiper, of New York City, will speak on "The Christian Community and the World of Nations." After this there will be a symposium, "Christian Youth and the Economic Order," Ann B. Bround, Chicago, and J. Stanley Burrows, Strosburg. "Christian Youth and Marriage," Miss Margaret Beard, Annville. "Christian Youth and Nation and State," Miss Alice Stewart, Homer City. Open forum led by Mr. Wentzel, concludes this conference.

The Thursday afternoon adult conference will be held at the Pine Street M. E. church. After devotions by Rev. Maurice A. Levy, D.D., there will be an address, "Antidotes For Indifference," by Dr. G. L. Schaller. After the election of officers of the state federation, "Giving Men A Chance," will be the subject of address by Dr. F. Lamont Henninger, D.D. There will be two addresses at the school administration division conference at the St. Paul's Lutheran church, "The Survey," by Rev. Freeman H. Swartz, Norristown, Pa., and "The Standards," by Dr. A. Monroe Hall. At the county and district officers' conference at the First Church of Christ Thursday afternoon, a discussion of "The Vital Link," will be discussed by Thomas R. Williamson, of Williamsport; Edwin S. Truby, of Oil City, and Rev. Clarence R. Thayer, of Butler. The closing address of this conference will be "This Whole Business," by Dr. Robert M. Hopkins, of New York City. The leadership education conference at St. John's Reformed church will be addressed by Dr. A. J. Schumaker and Rev. Willis R. Ford.

The subject of the general session Thursday evening at the Pine Street M. E. church will be "The Conference In Madras and World Leadership For Today," by Dr. Robert M. Hopkins, of New York City.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Mr. Hymie Augen, our occasional guest conductor, commentator on stuss, pi-gow, blackjack, pangingi, jitterbugs, international diplomacy and all-around skulduggery, does a short stretch in dramatic criticism.

"I'm coming out of Jake Riskind's Riviera beanery when I meet Rudy Romano who I haven't seen for six years and he mitts me and we get to talking about old times. Rudy has a nice front and I figure maybe he's working the numbers or something like that, but he says no he's got a nice lay running a dime dance place over in Brooklyn, and he's got three bambinos and before I can get in a word sideways he's telling me how smart his new baby is and he's going to send him to college, etc.

"I'm tricked out pretty nice myself and Rudy sees I'm doing all right. He's heard about me becoming an author and we both feel pretty good about everything and we go into Jake's and have a cup of coffee. It's like this. You meet a friend when you're both wondering how to get a flop and some scoff, and you don't want to talk about old times when things was really tough. It's too much the same way now. But when you're getting a nice percentage, with regular chow and the rent paid, etc., you laugh about the old days and ask each other what's become of so and so, and did he get bumped off yet and why not, and this and that.

"Well, we were talking this way, walking up Third avenue when we come to this moving picture, 'Angels Wash Their Faces.' I'm against it, because the title seems kind of screwy but Rudy tells me it's about some mugs that give a big run-around to tough cops and we go in.

"This picture made me homesick at first, and then I get pretty sore at this guy that's trying to frame the boy, so sore I couldn't enjoy myself. I whispered to Rudy that I know that punk and just where he is and I'm going out and bust him wide open. Rudy says lay off, and don't be a dumb cluck. Don't I know that this is just a picture and that this guy I know is a different crook? So I pipe down and Rudy tells me that this dame is Anne Sheridan the oomph girl. I tell him they didn't talk about nice girls that way around Red Hook and ain't it terrible the way everybody talks now and Rudy says shut up and keep me eye on this bozo, Robert Regan, who will fix everything jake in the end the way they do always in the pictures.

"This boy is doing a jolt in the reform school, but when he gets out he doesn't pull any jobs. He's smart and he's minding his own business when this big crook starts framing him, making believe that the boy is setting things on fire. This phony is making a pass at the kid's sister, this Sheridan girl, and he thinks the kid is throwing a switch on him. It looks like the boy is going to get sloughed for twenty years.

"The boy has a nice mob and Rudy tells me they aren't really actors but some boys called Dead End kids who used to work over on our beat. I think Rudy is ribbing me—they make all these pictures at Hollywood—but the boys didn't look like phonies and maybe there is a real Dead End mob, like Rudy says. I never heard of it, but there's been a lot of changes since my day.

"One of the boys gets to be mayor for a week in something like a boy scout work-out—I didn't quite get it—and then they give the grand razzle-dazzle to the cops, and spring their pal just as he gets the Sing-Sing stretch. That was nice, but I don't think it could happen. The cops wouldn't stand for it.

"When we come out of the show there was a peddle cart in the street. Once we would of tipped that over, I says to Rudy, and Rudy says no that's out, and no matter how this picture makes suckers out of the cops, they're all right if they behave themselves, etc. But the picture sure made us both homesick. Rudy says do I remember this and that and I see him and raise and we almost cry, talking over the good old days. The best one was when we got into Miner's Theatre and put cement in the grease paint, and the actors couldn't scrape it off."

Makes Antarctic Voyage To Take Whale Census

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash.—If the gentleman who thought washing an elephant was a big job will come around, Milton Lobell will tell him a few things.

Lobell is going to count whale noses in the antarctic.

Scheduled to accompany the coming Byrd expedition to Antarctic, the 26 year old University of Washington graduate, as a representative of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, will take a sort of whale census around the south pole ice cap.

After the Byrd land party establishes its base, one of the expeditions ships will cruise about the polar seas allowing Lobell to make his whale observations.

The study will be made to determine what methods of conservation may be necessary to keep the whaling industry from becoming extinct.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED TO FIND WOMAN'S SHOES

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—When some one steals your shoes you do something about it.

Mrs. Grace Braxton did something—she called the fire department. During some skylarking on a hay-ride returning some Harlemites from Coney Island some one took her shoes and met her demands for their return with laughs.

She hopped off the truck and looked for a cop. There wasn't a policeman in sight but there was a fire alarm box. She turned in an alarm and by and by she had firemen—and policemen.

One of the policemen took her to court where she was given the choice of a $25 fine or fifteen days in jail. She chose jail.

Double Celebration Of Thanksgiving Seen

(International News Service)

Exactly seven or eight weeks before Thanksgiving (according to the way your governor looks at it), 24 states were planning to celebrate on the November 23 date favored by President Roosevelt, 24 others were figuring on the traditional last Thursday which falls on November 30 and, by virtue of the fact that the biggest state is big enough to handle two Turkey Day dinners, a "49th" state remained undecided.

Gov. Lee O'Daniel of Texas, who won his office after a "pass-the-biscuits-pappy" campaign, announces that Texas will have two Thanksgiving days. Texans with lusty appetites will pass the turkey around the table on the president's day, and again on the last Thursday in November and Gov. O'Daniel hopes the state's turkey raising industry will boom.

Although most governors have not yet issued formal proclamations, the Thanksgiving Day lineup is as follows:

Expected to celebrate Nov. 23—California, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania Texas, South Carolina, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wyoming.

Expected to celebrate Nov. 30—Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, Kansas, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Wisconsin.

Undecided—Arizona.

Woman Weaves Her Own Cloth, Pioneer Fashion

(International News Service)

OGUNQUIT, Me.—Mrs. Florence Ives Gookin turned back the clock of industrial progress to find in her own home profit—and pleasure.

For Mrs. Gookin manufactures her own tweeds and cashmeres from "grown-in-maine" wool. She works on an old-fashioned hand loom in her backwoods farm home.

The mother of two children, she makes her own clothing from her own home-made cloth, according to her own designs.

The wooden looms, used by Mrs. Gookin, are made by her husband of an old pattern. Her busy season is from August to March when she fills orders taken in the summer to be sent almost everywhere in the United States.

Modestly passing off praise of her work, Mrs. Gookin said, "Anyone can do it. And I really feel that we can do it just as well in this country as in Scotland.

"And another thing it is not necessary to import our wool. Why, right here in Maine up in Aroostook County, is the best sheep-raising area in America. Aroostook needed another crop, in addition to potatoes and now it has wool. I consider it better than that of Texas and just as good for many purposes, as the Australian product."

Advocating the spread of her hobby, both as a pleasant means of whiling away time and as a practical way of obtaining extra money, she said:

"Let people turn to weaving and they'll have fun and be practical, too. Weaving can be taught in six two-hour lessons enough so that anyone can turn out something at a loom.

"And it's so wonderful, sitting here in the 200 year old farmhouse and being free at my own work. I don't aim to get rich, just want to make a living. Probably, the greatest pleasure I get is designing the patterns of the goods—and I do the best by creating the patterns as I weave."

Women Get Their Man Survey Shows

Survey Reveals That Women Are Not Backward In Proposing

(International News Service)

FORT COLLINS.—Take it from a man who knows, Romeo and Juliet tactics in marriage nowadays are about as rare as an Edison phonograph. Not only that, the women are doing their share of the proposing these days.

These are the conclusions of an incomplete study on family relationships being made by Dr. Paul Popenoe, nationally recognized family relations expert of Los Angeles who is attached to the faculty of Colorado State College for the summer session.

"Men apparently propose in a very casual manner," Dr. Popenoe declared. "Perhaps this is an indication that people are taking marriage casually."

In the opinion of Dr. Popenoe, casual proposals are frivolous marriages are the two most outstanding trends of present day romance. The day of the guitar-playing, half-kneeling swain is definitely past, he asserts.

The modern female, according to Dr. Popenoe, is as precocious as an unbroken colt. Results of a survey show that eighty-five women proposed marriage to their husbands. And of these, Dr. Popenoe says seventy were successful—that is they were married to persons to whom they proposed, quite happily.

ADVISES LEARNING ART OF YAWNING TO WIN HAPPINESS

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 6.—If you want to be alert and extremely happy, learn how to yawn properly.

Mrs. Evelyn Verschoyle, exponent in the art of yawning, offered this advise when she demonstrated the value of yawning in a television program here.

"If you are bored at a party don't keep on drinking but just poke your head out of the nearest window and yawn mightly two or three times. You will then become the life and soul of the party," she said.

Mrs. Verschoyle can not only yawn herself awake, but she can yawn herself to sleep. She began to practice five years ago when she suffered from insomnia. Now she can sleep when she wants to.

To become an expert, Mrs. Verschoyle says you must watch animals yawn and copy them.

"I started learning animal yawns and stretches with Sir Paul Dukes, former chief of the British Secret Service in Russia, who believes in yawning and stretching," she said.

Man To Face Arson Charge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—A charge of arson will be filed today against a 30-year-old dishwasher whose pipe was responsible for the fire which razed Eddie Peyton's roadhouse on Steubenville Pike, county detectives said.

Gerald Hartz, of Crafton, employed occasionally as a dishwasher or parking attendant, crept into Peyton's establishment after it had been closed for the night, and accidently set fire to the building as he sought to light his pipe, the detectives charged.

The roadhouse burned to the ground last Friday, causing a loss estimated by Peyton at $85,000.

Correspondent Trails Jap Army

Tells Of Difficulty Following Swift Moving Troop Maneuvers

HARDSHIPS ARE TOLD BY WRITER

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WITH THE JAPANESE ARMY IN NORTH CHINA.—Six American correspondents and one or two British and Germans have been nearly as pestiferous to the Japanese army as have been the Chinese during the campaign on all sides of Peking. Flatly, Japanese high command orders have been that no correspondent is to be allowed in the fighting zone.

Defying that order, correspondents have motored, walked and bicycled to the front. In several cases the correspondent has been blindfolded and escorted back. Other times they were held as long as a week for questioning before release. Fortunately no foreign correspondent has been wounded thus far but several of the Americans, including myself, have been directly fired upon.

Despite these severe restrictions the correspondents have had plenty of opportunity to get their fill of living with the Japanese army under war conditions. Guided by Colonel Hiraoka, army press section chief, they made their way to the various fronts along with troops going into the lines.

Notes Washed Away

With pack on my back I have marched over a mountain range in the Great Wall district in a drenching rain for seven hours on end. The notes I had made on a paper pad were washed off, so wet did I get.

On all sides the Japanese infantry, artillery and cavalry were sloshing beside me while we hugged the mountainous sides of the road to escape a mud bath from passing motor trucks.

On the occasion when other correspondents and I could hop a military train, we thought our luck was in. Sometimes we were permitted to ride on a locomotive which was dashing up the line to pick up a train. Other times a ride could be caged on the miniature tanks which the Japanese operate either on roads or railways.

While these latter stunts were better for making time than a box car, they did offer tempting targets for Chinese guerilla sharpshooter, an at all times Japanese solders with us had their fingers on rifle triggers. And sitting on the rivet studded steel turrt of tank tends to grow uncombortable after five or six hours, especially when a stiff gale is blowing.

Efficient Packers

We were packed frequently into steel box cars, made for the Chinese railway by a Chicago firm. The Japanese are an efficient race at boxing and packing anything from pickles to troops, and I usually found the space allowed me on the floor of the car was exactly the width of my own person and not an inch more.

The hardness of one's berth for the night soon becomes a matter of no importance compared with the wangling of a space long enough to stretch out full length.

The outstanding perch I discovered on many trips was the cook's table on a 30-year-old, third class dining car. With most of me reposing on the two-foot wide table, I found comfort by resting my feet in the kitchen sink at the end of the table. That was really a good night's rest, and I was envied by my colleagues packed in among troops on the floor.

Headquarters No Better

Once arrived at a Japanese field headquarters, conditions would be no better. With luck, we could find a brick bed in a bomb shattered railway station, rich in animal life left behind by a Chinese army displaced as recently as two or three days previous.

It has been a true chase for the correspondents to keep up with the Japanese advance on the two railways south of Peking and the one to the northwest. No sooner had we reached one base than we were advised the Japanese advance column had made a dash many miles further on while we were making our customary one or two miles an hour by troop train.

Illustrative of this comparatively swift Japanese advance, is the remark of the press section chief, who compares it with the progress of the Japanese army in the Russo-Japanese War of 1904-05, fought on the Manchurian plains.

"General Kuroki, commander of the Second Army of Japan, left Pulantien on June 13, 1904, and reached Mukden, 200 miles away, on March 10 of the next year, thus taking 271 days with an average advance of less than one mile per day," said the officer.

Three Miles A Day

"Now take the ease of our progress on the Tientsin-Pukow Railway in the present campaign. The Japanese army left Chinghai on August 24 and occupied Pingyuan, 150 miles southward, on October 13, the number of days required being only 50, an advance of three miles per day, or more than three times more speedy than done by the Kuroki Army 30 years ago."

"The record made by the Peking Hankow Railway by the Japanese columns is even better. The troops in this sector covered the 200 miles between Pianghsiang and Shunteh in 30 days, an average of over six miles per day."

"BEST cakes you EVER baked"

Biggest shortening discovery in 29 years!

"SURE-MIX" CRISCO makes cakes better-eating in 3 ways

1 · · HIGHER!
Let your own cake recipe show you. "Sure-Mix" Crisco cakes are higher! —up to 15% higher than cakes made with any other household shortening we know of.

2 · · LIGHTER!

3 · · TENDERER!
Let the first taste tell you! "Sure-Mix" Crisco cakes are tenderer, too, more delicious, better-eating!

JURY OF 1,100 HOUSEWIVES FROM COAST TO COAST made "Blind" Test of "Sure-Mix" Crisco. Each was asked to use her own recipe and bake two cakes—one with an unlabeled shortening (it was "Sure-Mix" Crisco) and one with another shortening. Here's what the majority preference vote showed: The cakes made with "Sure-Mix" Crisco turned out 1. Higher 2. Lighter 3. Tenderer 4. Better-eating!

FOR BETTER-EATING CAKES

IMPORTANT!
Just ask for "Crisco" at your store—as usual. All Crisco is now "Sure-Mix." There's no change in hinge-top can or label—but oh, the difference in Crisco itself!

MARVELOUS CHOCOLATE PEPPERMINT CAKE

½ cup Crisco
1¼ cups sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 squares chocolate
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
1¾ cups cake flour
1 teaspoon soda

Blend Crisco, sugar, eggs, salt and vanilla. (See how "Sure-Mix" Crisco brings together all the ingredients!) Add melted chocolate; beat well. Sift flour and soda. Add to chocolate mixture alternately with sour milk. (Note completely mixed batter!) Bake in two "Criscoed" 9-inch layer pans in a moderate oven (350° F.) 30-35 minutes.

DOUBLE BOILER PEPPERMINT FROSTING: Beat together over boiling water 2 unbeaten egg whites, ⅓ cup water, 1½ cups sugar, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar. Beat 7 minutes or until frosting holds peaks. Add ¼ teaspoon peppermint extract. Spread between layers and over cake. Let set. Melt 2 squares chocolate; pour over top; let it drip down sides.

Halting Work On State's Alcatraz To Cost $900,000

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 6—Halting of construction on Pennsylvania's "Alcatraz" at Mt. Gretna will cost the state approximately $900,000, it was revealed today, as the general state authority announced that contractors would be paid off at a sum not to exceed that figure.

Gov. Arthur H. James stopped the project after he became governor. He contended that the prison was not needed and that it would cost less to pay off contractors than to finish the job and operate the institution.

Manpower In China Increases

Army More Than Doubled Since War Began Two Years Ago

WAR TOLL FAILS TO MAKE INROADS

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEKING, China, Oct. 6.—"China's manpower has been hardly touched by two years of war," declared General Chen Cheng vice minister of war of the Chinese National government at Chungking.

"The Chinese army, which had a little over a million men when the war began in July, 1937, has been increased to two and a half millions of front line forces. Not only has China had no difficulty in filling gaps caused by casualties, but she has actually built up a large fighting force under enemy fire," continued the minister.

"In addition there are 100 regiments of reserves in camps and there are available at least fifteen million able-bodied men of military age who have had some training and can be drafted at short notice and after a short period of intensive training are ready to march to the front.

General Chen Cheng adds that between 1935 and 1939 over eight million Chinese received military training.

Expands Military Training

Not only is the Nationalist fighting machine already greater despite the loss of well over a million through war casualties, but Shungking authorities have completed a plan to give military training more males in various parts of free China during remaining months of 1939, reveals Vice-Minister of War.

That these are not idle boasts on the part of the Chinese government is well supported by Japanese communiques on fighting throughout China in recent weeks covering several major campaigns.

In what a Japanese officer described as the most important and wide scale operations since the occupation of North China" the Japanese admit that they were forced by a Chinese force of 100,000 regular troops, not guerillas, in Southern Shansi.

Red Leaders in Battle

Of this number, 45,000 were seasoned veterans commanded by the famed Red, General Chu Teh, comprising the 19th Army, formerly a part of the notorious 8th Route Communist Army. The balance were troops of the Central Army, and Shansi Provincial forces.

In contrast to the usual Japanese boast that they generally engage Chinese forces vastly superior in number, a spokesman admitted that at least three Japanese divisions were thrown into this Shansi campaign.

The Japanese military make no secret that their object is always to annihilate and kill Chinese troops rather than to take territory. Revelations of the Shansi operations are all the more noteworthy in that so large a Chinese regular force could still be resisting in an area through which the Japanese army passed victoriously early in 1939.

NAZI PERSECUTION SENDS SCIENTISTS TO UNITED STATES

(International News Service)

BOSTON — Nazi persecution in Germany is enriching science and industry in the United States by the immigration of brilliant refugee chemists, according to Dr Charles A. Browne of the United States Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, in a report prepared for the 96th meeting of the American Chemical society.

In the past Dr. Browne pointed out, American science has been advanced notably by refugees from European countries. During early 19th century struggles in Ireland for political freedom, he said, banishments caused a number of eminent Irishmen to seek refuge in the United States. Among them were Drs. William James MacNaven, James Patten Emmet and Thomas Antisell, all physicians and chemists.

"DEGENERATE" ART IN GERMANY; BUT IT'S SHOWN HERE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Five pieces of art branded as "degenerate" and banned from Germany are now on exhibit at New York's Museum of Modern Art.

The group included a statue, the "Kneeling Woman," by Lehmbruck and paintings by Henri Matisse Andre Derain, Ernst Ludwig Kirchned and Paul Klee. Several of the works were included in the exhibition of "degenerate art" at Munich in 1937, which was better attended than the exhibit of officially approved art.

"The museum" said Alfred H. Barr, Jr., director of the acquisitions, "is very fortunate in having acquired these excellent works of art. The "Kneeling Woman" is one of the great masterpieces of modern sculpture and was so regarded in the native land of the artist for many years."

Dr. Shoaff's Paper Heard By Doctors

'Treatment Of Fractures" Is His Subject; Convention Reported

"Treatment of Fractures" was the theme of a paper Dr. Paris A. Shoaff, this city, presented before last night's scientific program of the Lawrence County Medical society in The Castleton. The meeting was in charge of Dr. Samuel W. Perry, Jr., second vice president.

Reports on the Pittsburgh convention of the Medical society of the State of Pennsylvania, held this week, were brought by Dr. John O. Woods, the society's delegate to the sessions.

The local society was represented in Pittsburgh by a delegation which included Dr. Woods and Dr. F. D. Campbell of Bessemer, its president.

(International News Service)

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—A new air fighting squadron similar to the Lafayette Escadrille of World War fame was being formed today by 15 veterans of the Royal Air Force, six of them United States citizens, who were rejected by both England and France for service in the new war but conditionally accepted by the French.

The volunteers, most of them past 40 years and with 500 to 1,500 hours in the air each, will be sent to France as soon as they pass physical tests.

The United States citizens were listed as J. B. Remington, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; L. R. Sherman, Milford Mass.; Daniel C. Mangan and King Whyte, Cleveland, and J. B. O'Hara and W. N. Purvis, Detroit.

News Briefs From City Hall

Police received complaints from residents in different sections last night stating that boys were hurling tomatoes. Not long ago Mayor Charles E. McGrath fined several boys $5.00, each, for a similar offense. It is possible the mayor will increase the fine if police catch the offenders. It was said by Mayor McGrath that plans have been made to round up gangs. Several years ago youths refused to heed warnings of officials and the curfew ordinance was made effective. Persons under a certain age were not allowed on streets after a certain hour without a bonafide note from their parents stating why the youths were out.

Police received a report this morning that a fire hydrant was found broken at 427 West Grant street.

Alvin Adams, R. D. 3, parked his car at the P. & L. E. driveway last night and someone stole a package of groceries from the auto. Several cases of this kind have been reported recently to city police. Orders have been issued by Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell to police to observe closely all parked cars in the hope of apprehending thieves.

Steve Hasulak, rear 125 East Long avenue, informed city police last night his auto struck a Pennsylvania Power company light standard at the west end of the West Washington street bridge. The crash resulted in the light globe being broken.

Manufacturers Light & Heat company employes this morning excavated in Neal street between Taylor and Division streets for new lines, one on each side of Neal street, because a new regulator station must be installed because of the thoroughfare being graded.

Organization Will Open Offices In Greer Building On Next Monday Morning

Republican campaign headquarters have been secured on the sixth floor of the Greer building, according to an announcement made this morning by Register and Recorder Orville Potter, who was chosen chairman at a meeting of candidates held this week. The headquarters will be opened on next Monday morning and there will be some one constantly in charge.

It is the purpose of the organization to bend their energies toward getting out the vote at the general election to be held on November 7.

ALIENS WANT GAS MASKS

Britains residing in Paris and suburbs are worrying as to which country will provide them with gas masks. Masks are being distributed to French residents in Paris, but no provisions are being made, it is said, for caring for aliens. Englishmen are asking the British government to supply masks to all British subjects. They declare that many of their fellow countrymen cannot afford to buy the protectors, especially as no efficient mask can be bought at popular prices in France. The British colony in the Paris danger zone may raise a fund to care for all Britains there.

Soviet Domination Over Eastern Baltic Region Is Enhanced

U. S. S. R. Continues Drive For Increased Power In Strategic Nations

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Oct. 6.—Strategic Soviet Russian domination over the eastern Baltic region was greatly enhanced today by a Russo-Latvian 10-year pact of mutual military assistance.

The pact will become effective provided it is ratified by the Latvian government at Riga within six days.

Signed by Russian and Latvian representatives in Moscow late last night, the agreement concedes Russia naval and air bases at the Latvian ports of Libau and Windau and the right to station troops, warships, planes and anti-aircraft batteries at other strategic positions.

By means of its military provisions, the pact gives the Soviet Union virtually complete domination over the eastern Baltic, including the shores of Finland, Sweden and Lithuania.

Continuing its drive for increased power, the USSR was expected shortly to conclude a similar treaty with Lithuania after Lithuanian Foreign Minister Juozaz Urbsys returns to Moscow from Kaunas. A comparable agreement already has been concluded between Russia and Estonia.

Concurrent negotiations with Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu also progressed, and it was reported unofficially that Moscow is soon to receive a pledge from Turkey to close the Dardanelles against British, French or other naval forces which might become involved in war with Russia.

Polite Bandits Rob Couple In Pittsburgh Home

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—The three armed bandits who held up and robbed Mr. and Mrs Charles Broniman in their Mt. Lebanon home garage early today were very polite, the victims reported.

But, the thugs got away with $100 in cash, and polite or impolite, that's a matter for the police, they reported to officials here.

Broniman said he and his wife drove into the garage and when his wife went to get out the bandits appeared with white handkerchiefs over their faces.

"They were very polite," said Mrs. Broniman.

Cincinnati Fans Greet Players At Station With Cheers

Loyal Fans Have Not Given Up Hope That Reds Will Defeat Yankees Even Now

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6.—Greeted by one of the most enthusiastic receptions ever visited upon a baseball team, the Cincinnati Reds returned home today for resumption of hostilities against the New York Yankees in the world's series tomorrow.

There was no indication of the home club's plight in evidence among its following here, although the Reds, themselves, are perturbed and a little confused by what has gone before.

Beaten two straight in the first two games at New York, the Reds probably face permanent elimination by late Sunday, but the citizens who were with them to the ultimate winning of the National league pennant still were with them today.

High School Club Hears Address On Denmark By Miss Virginia Guldbransen

The German club of the Senior high school held its initial meeting this week in the music room of the school. The plans for the evening were under the direction of a committee consisting of Prentice Stenger, Pauline Lienhart, Eleanor Eckles, Dot Devlin, Betty Mackey and Marvena Stenger.

New students in the first semester group were special guests and with the regular members of the club enjoyed a get-acquainted scheme at the beginning of the evening. The regular program was in charge of the last year president, Tom Wilcox. The club sang a series of German songs with Eleanor Eckles at the piano.

The main feature of the evening was an informal talk by a guest, Miss Virginia Guldbransen of Ellwood City, who spent the past year in Denmark as the guest of relatives and as a student in the International college at Copenhagen. She told many interesting and amusing experiences in which she made comparisons with life in Denmark and in the United States.

Plans for the year's work of the club were discussed. A nominating committee composed of Jack McNeice, John Earl and Dorothy Hindman will present the names for election at the next meeting.

Earlier in the evening Miss Guldbransen and her mother, Mrs. Bessie Guldbransen, were dinner guests of Miss Mary Riffer, supervisor of the club.

NEW CASTLE AND WARREN PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Schoolboy Teams Eager For Battle

New Castle Will Try For Fourth Straight Victory Tonight; Warren Bringing Heavy Team For Game; Bridenbaugh Switches Lineup, McKee And Morgan Starting; Good Weather Will Put Probably 10,000 Or More In Stands; Kickoff Slated For 8 O'Clock.

If the weatherman is so inclined, there will be upwards of 10,000 football loving fans in the stands at Taggart stadium tonight as New Castle's undefeated "Red Hurricane" endeavors to add the Warren High team to the list of victims. The kickoff is slated for 8 o'clock. Warren is sending several hundred fans and students here for the annual battle.

New Castle will be after revenge this year. Last season the Warren Presidents walked off with a 13 to 3 win at the Ohio city and hope to repeat this year, but the task is not going to be an easy one. The "Hurricane" is vastly improved over last year. Warren will bring the heaviest team here that New Castle has faced this year. They will average as a team 177. New Castle's average weight as a team is announced today as 160. That means giving from 15 to 17 pounds per man.

Expect Lot Of Passes

It would not be surprising to the writer to see a lot of passes thrown tonight. New Castle has a nice passing attack lined up this year with Lindy Lauro doing the bulk of throwing. Cenname and Zarilla have been catching quite a few of the heaves. So have Gender and Roberts. Warren always has a fine passing team. They didn't get much of a chance to show it in the Massillon game. They will unlimber a few this evening, you can bet on that.

RECORDS TO DATE

New Castle High

New Castle 20, Butler 12.
New Castle 13, Youngstown East 0.
New Castle 7, Beaver Falls 0.
Totals—New Castle 40, opponents 12.

Warren Harding High

Warren 7, Cleve. Rhodes 0.
Warren 19, Erie Adademy 0.
Warren 0, Massillon 33.
Totals—Warren 26, opponents 33.

Are Not Over-Confident

Despite the fact that Massillon high hung a 33 to 0 defeat on Warren last week, the locals are not by any means over-confident at taking the Warrenites in stride. It is going to be a battle from the kickoff to the final whistle.

New Castle has the better record, but records mean little in actual competition on the field.

The New Castle-Warren series to date gives the locals the edge with three victories, one defeat and one tie. In 1934 when the current series began New Castle won 7 to 0, in 1935 it was 19 to 0 New Castle, in 1936 it was 13 to 12 New Castle, in 1937 it was a tie game 0-0, and in 1938 at Warren the Presidents won 13 to 0.

In the matter of points scored in the series New Castle leads 39 to 25. What will happen tonight? Will Warren get its second win over a New Castle team? or will New Castle take its fourth win from the Ohioans?

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh announced at the conclusion of the Thursday night workout that young Freddy McKee would start at quarterback in place of Joe Gender tonight and that John Morgan will start at center, replacing Ernie Adamo, These are the first changes in the starting lineup since the opening game of the year.

Coach Pierre Hill and his Warren assistants have had a hard row to hoe this week, they have had the boys at the top of form for the Massillon game and there may have been a let-down this week. That is what the coaches have had to guard against. However, reports by Tommy Thompson, the Warren sports editor, say that Warren will be prepared to give New Castle high its toughest game of the year tonight.

How Teams Tonight Compare In Weight

That Warren high will undoubtedly have a weight advantage over New Castle high's "Red Hurricane" is shown by the following:

Titans Meet California Teachers On Saturday At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 6.—In their first home game of the 1939 season, the Westminster Titans will face the California Teachers on Saturday at New Wilmington.

The Titans lost their opener of the year to Bethany last Saturday, 7-0, while California was downing Edinboro, 6-0. In the line, the Teachers eleven will outweight the Titans about ten pounds to the man.

For the first time in several years, however, Coach Washabaugh will have adequate reserves, both in the line and the backfield. Valicenti, Mt. Lebanon half, has improved his passing skill so much that Westminster will be a constant threat through the air. Against Bethany, the Titans completed eight of 15 passes, while the Bisons were connecting with three of of three.

Vastly improved over last year will be the Titan punting department, with the toe of Harry Shoup, Bessemer senior, in the quarter position, playing the leading role.

For all positions in the line, Westminster will have reserve material. This year's freshman squad has yielded an unlooked for supply of both line and backfield material. Outstanding among the first-year backs are Faulkner, Avalon, an excellent place-kicker; Newton, Ellwood City, hard-running back and blocker, and Clyde Hopkins, Titusville, tall and rangy, and an excellent pass receiver.

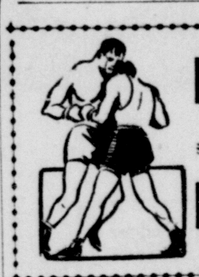
In the line, the most promising are Ferrell, 230-pound tackle from Mt. Lebanon; Houston, Pittsburgh center, and Leonard, Groveton, 185-pound tackle. All will probably see action against California.

The Titans will make their first home appearance in their new royal blue and white uniforms, consisting of blue satin pants and silk jerseys.

On the field, between halves, will be the Blue and White Titan band, directed by Prof. Donald O. Cameron, in a new array of maneuvers and music.

Probable starting lineup for Saturday's game:

Westminster		California
Ruefle or Pfau	L. E.	Zingle
Mamula	L. T.	Finley
Leonard or Riblet	L. G.	Thomas
Lutton	C	Neel
Youkers (c)	R. G.	Newman
DePaulis	R. T.	Dressing
Washabaugh or Brinkley	R. E.	Kiebler
Shoup	Q. B.	Gladys
Edwards or Evanoff	R. H.	Elliott
Valicenti or Newton	L. H.	Holmok
Laposki	F. B.	Kearns



HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Today there is a void in the puglistic life of not only this city but on the entire fistic horizon, because, early Thursday morning, the Great Referee tolled 10 and all that was mortal of the well known Jimmie Dime was still. His body is at Leyde's funeral parlor and will be laid to rest after services at St. Joseph's church at 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Jimmie Dime has been ill for some time, his ailment possibly having resulted from an accident some years ago when an auto struck him while Dime was crossing Croton avenue. He sustained a fracture of the hip but despite the ailment, carried on, and was active until probably a year ago when illness prevented his giving lessons in a gymnasium.

Dime was born in 1862 in Tipperary, Ireland, and when three years of age was brought by his parents to Winooski Falls, near Burlington, Vt. During his early days he was a good runner and it was due to a foot race he got his name Dime, his right name being Fox.

He wanted to race but lacked the entry fee. Someone gave him the necessary dime and when they asked his name, he replied: "Oh, just put it down Dime." Little did he or his friends at that time know that, the name Dime, was to become famous, not only here, but throughout the nation and Australia.

He participated in foot racing events and boxing and at one time was regarded as the uncrowned 128 pound champion of the world. His opponents were topnotch. During his time in the ring he fought 44 times. He scored 41 knockouts and lost but once by a technical knockout, because of a broken arm.

Most of his boxing was done in New York state. He also boxed in Boston and other places. He promoted in Troy and it was in that section he was very well known. At one time he was a coach of running at a New York State college.

During the governorship of Theodore Roosevelt, Dime was athletic instructor to Teddy and his sons, at Albany. Many times he recalled incidents of the time he was affiliated in the capacity. He came here about 1902, or 1903 and later took up the development and management of boxers.

He taught Jimmie Dunn, Tony Ross, George Chip, Tom McMahon, Patsy Brannigan, Dan Dailey, Battling Terry, Tommy Jones, Tommy Bresnahan, Paris Cangey, Eddie Weygant, Mog Pugh, Babe Picato, Joe Chip and others. Further, he achieved the goal every manager seeks—a title.

Back in the 'teens he taught and developed George Chip. He told George that Champion Middleweight Klaus would be easy for Chip. For several rounds the "going was tough" but as the end neared Chip knocked out Klaus at Pittsburgh to win the title and shortly after, repeated the knockout.

Some months later George lost the title to Al McCoy in Brooklyn, but with Dime, his manager, he did better fighting after he dropped the crown than before—mainly because of the confidence and teaching with which Dime instilled his protege.

Dime handled Tony Ross when Tony boxed Jack Johnson; Tom McMahon when he fought Gunboat Smith and Jess Willard; Jimmie Dunn when he was one of the best featherweights in the country; Patsy Brannigan when he boxed Johnny Kilbane, Kid Williams and other champions and also seconded George Chip in Australia against the late but great Les Darcy.

Dan Dailey was also seconded by Dime when Dan battled Willard and had Jess near a kayo in Buffalo, only to succumb a few rounds later. Dime was not only a teacher of punch but he was a very shrewd second in the corner.

He pointed the way for some of the local foot racers of a score and 10 years ago, Claude Patton being one. He always said that the race was won in the start and a fast man fortified with the faculty of knowing how to "beat the gun" usually emerged winner.

Dime's word was his bond. Once he gave his word, nothing could cause him to break it. He was well known and favorably regarded by all the big men in the boxing world and also had the friendship and respect of preliminary boys who were trying to get somewhere.

Dime is gone. His memory is here. It will linger on as will his ring achievements.

Billy Neeley, law student, is the new boxing coach at West Virginia U. . . . Bernard Kelly will be one of the new coaches for the Pittsburgh Pirates, according to Frankie Frisch, who will pilot the team in 1940. He has been serving as coach for the Boston Bees. The attendance for the new world series games totaled 118,332. . . . Mose Brown, who technically kayoed Johnny Dean last night, has not yet lost a professional fight. . . . Pennsylvanians and Ohioans will clash in the last polo game of the season at Old Furnace field, Zelienople, Sunday afternoon. . . . Sportsmen from eastern Ohio, West Virginia and many points in western Pennsylvania will attend the field trials here Saturday.

Yanks Hope For Four Straight Over Cincinnati

Gomez, Hildebrand Or Hadley Will Face Reds Saturday, Thompson Is Reds Choice

REDS ARE WEAK IN HIT DEPARTMENT

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

ENROUTE TO CINCINNATI, Oct. 6.—Having out-played the Cincinnati Reds by a convincing and, what's more important, a decisive, margin in the first two games of the world series, the New York Yankees today were convinced that this one will be a repetition of the sweeps in four straight scored by them from time to time in the past. That is the measure of these gents—that they don't figure in terms of winning a game, but rather in retaining the world championship in the shortest possible time. They are confident almost beyond reason, and quite enthusiastic about it all.

Thus they steam into the stronghold of the Reds for tomorrow's third game of this renewal, bent upon making it four world triumphs in a row and the fourth, dating back to 1927 in which the Yankees have accomplished their conquest in a blitzkrieg of four straight games. In fact, up to now they have won 16 games out of 19 played in the last four world series, and for team effectiveness are setting records that won't ever be broken unless they do it.

Too Much Pitching

The Reds are good—almost great in many respects, but with their best pitchers pitching and their best swingers swinging, the net results of their efforts to date is a pair of defeats, by 2 to 1 on Wednesday and 4 to 0 yesterday.

This, mind you, in a series in which the Yankees started with the two men who made possible their previous three straight victories in the series uncertain of their effectiveness, one being Red Ruffing, who took the opener with a sore arm, the other Lefty Vernon Gomez who hasn't started yet and may not at all due to miseries in his side.

Gomez may be called upon to oppose Rookie Gene Thompson, of the Reds in the third game tomorrow. The latter, a 13-game winner through the National League stretch, has been definitely nominated by Manager Bill McKechnie. Manager Joe McCarthy will make a choice after a workout late today. If it's not Gomez, it will be Bump Hadley or Oral Hildebrand. This triumvirate make up his second line of pitching defense, behind Ruffing and Monte Pearson.

It may be that the Reds can crack Gomez, Hadley or Hildebrand for some runs, but even if they do they have no assurance that the Yankees won't perform more or less similarly against their young Mr. Thompson. Quite logically, young Mr. Thompson is young, for one thing, and fresh out of the bushes around Columbia in the sally league for another. He doesn't figure to succeed where Paul Derringer failed gallantly in the opener and Bucky Walters had his ears pinned back yesterday.

Utility League Dinner Success

Howard Warnock Elected As President Of League For 1940 Season, Over 50 Attend

ALL-STATE TEAM IS GIVEN TROPHY

With over 50 in attendance the first annual banquet of the Utility-Mercantile softball league last night at Sylvan Heights clubhouse proved to be a big success from start to finish. An election of 1940 officials for the league resulted in Howard Warnock being named as president.

The dinner consisting of steak, mashed potatoes and the necessary side-dishes was very fine and was served by Mrs. Walter Hart and her assistants.

Warnock Elected

With the eating part of the night's program out of the way, Howard Warnock assumed the role of toastmaster and after a few very fine remarks presented Russell Book of the All-States championship team with a handsome trophy cup. Mr. Book responded with a nice talk, thanking the league for the cup and claiming that the All-States would be out there next year plugging for another championship. The Gas Office gang, runners-up this year, may have something to say about the 1940 race.

Warnock made Charles "Bugs" Walther, guest of the league, chairman of the business meeting that followed presentation of the cup and an election of officers was held with Warnock being named president, Fred Quinn vice-president, Russell Book as secretary and Henry Snyder as treasurer.

It was suggested that there be three commissioners for the league next year outside of the league circles and the following three were named: Gus Slovonsky, Lee Campbell and Mr. Walther.

Plan Bowling League

A general discussion by the league members followed with a proposal being made that the Utility-Mercantile men form a duckpin bowling league to bowl at the Castle alleys. A meeting of team managers or captains was announced for the "Y" at 8 o'clock Monday night, October 9, at which time an organization will be effected.

The members of the softball league also voted to have a drafted set of rules made prior to the start of the 1940 season. All were unanimous in declaring that the past first year of the league had been a very enjoyable one and that next year the league would be bigger and better than ever under the guidance of Mr. Warnock.

Thompson To Face Yankees On Saturday

McKechnie Hopes That Junior Can Stop Yanks From Winning Four Straight

GOMEZ-HILDEBRAND CHOICE OF YANKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Bill McKechnie, still defiant manager of the Reds, told the story of the second world series game in one crisp sentence.

"Just too much Pearson," said Bill, as he stepped from under a shower towelling vigorously.

"But," he added, "don't think we're through by any means. Look around at these boys. They don't look discouraged, do they? We've pulled out of tougher holes than this during the season and we may repeat now.

Thompson To Pitch

"I'm going to start Junior Thompson in the next game at home. He's the best young pitcher that's come up to our league in several years and I think he can stop them."

Over in the Yankee dressing room, Monte Pearson was trying to look modest after his two-hit performance. Monte insisted that he didn't know he had a no-hitter in sight when Lombardi hit a fast ball for a single in the eighth.

"All I was interested in," said Monte, "was in seeing that we were one run ahead at the end of the ninth inning. In other words, my only interest was in winning. I wasn't thinking whether anybody had made a hit or not."

Had Everything

Catcher Bill Dickey said Monte had "everything—speed, control and curves." "He was pretty quick out there," is the way Bill paid tribute.

All the Yanks were high on Babe Dahlgren. "Din't I tell you," Red Rolfe was telling everybody, "that Babe would be the hitting hero of this series?"

Joe McCarthy refused to name his next starting pitcher until sometime today and it was generally believed that he was waiting to see if Lefty Gomez is ready to pitch. If Lefty, who declares his side is all right, doesn't go, then Oral Hildebrand seems to be in line for the next assignment.

And, as Fred Fletcher remarked, "we have a lot of real pitchers left—Hildy, Hadley, Russo—any of them can win."

The Yanks are hoping for four straight but none of them will say so.

Famous Jockey Foils Kidnaper

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Don Meade, the famous jockey, his wife and small son were all safe today while police held a man as the suspected perpetrator of a bizarre kidnaping out of which the intrepid jockey said he talked himself into freedom.

As a further display of his calmness, Meade rode five horses at Belmont, bringing in one winner and placing in the money twice, while cooperating with police in setting a trap for the suspect who was identified as Carlo Zarcone, 32.

Meade told police a man shoved a gun in his ribs Wednesday night as he left a tavern, forced him into a car and demanded $4,000 on a threat of harming his wife and baby whom the stranger claimed to have abducted. Meade finally persuaded the man to free him to obtain the money. Before freeing him, the abductor broke Meade's pocket comb in two, instructing him to appear on a street corner the following night and give the money to a man who had a half of the comb matching the piece he gave the jockey. Meade found his wife, and the child safe at home but kept the rendezvous with a dummy package. Police followed in another car when the stranger drove by and picked up the jockey and arrested Zarcone.

Pearson Hurls Two-Hit Game As Yanks Win

Score Is 4 To 0 As Yanks Move Into Position To Score Four Straight Triumphs

DAHLGREN-KELLER ARE BATTING STARS

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 6—With Monte Pearson matching all pitching performance of world series history, the New York Yankees Thursday made it two straight over the Cincinnati Reds by a score of 4 to 0.

Pearson allowed only two hits to keep the Reds subdued throughout the game, and struck out eight men as he hurled his way into baseball's hall of fame and put the Yanks within two games of a fourth world triumph in a row.

Ties World's Record

Pearson tied the world series record for a hitless stretch when he went 7 1-3 innings before he was nicked for a single, and in allowing a grand total of only two singles—he came within one marker of matching another series standard.

Only Ernie Lombardi and Bill Werber in successive innings, the eighth and ninth, met the apple for safeties—and neither blow produced more than short-lived hopes for the Cincinnati cheering section.

Meantime, Bucky Walters, the reformed third baseman, was being combed freely by the Yankees for nine hits, including doubles by Charley Keller and Babe Dahlgren in a big third inning and a homer by Dahlgren in the fourth.

Pearson Master

After that the Reds never had a chance, and Pearson breezed along, taking them in turn into the eighth when they finally cracked the ice on him with Lombardi's single.

Up to then only one man, Werber who walked in the fourth, had got on base. He was quickly engulfed in a double play and, with that, Pearson went into the eighth without any of the thwarted Reds moving as far as second and with a score never even remotely threatened.

In this column early in the week we published a question concerning the possibility of having a stretcher at the football field . . . At that time certain things were in our mind and today they have been made clear by officials of the football world. A good doctor is always at hand at the football game and it is under his direction that all players are carried from the field. There is always an ambulance at hand ready for any emergency . . . either on the field or in the stands. Not all injuries need be carried in a "basket" or stretcher as some might suppose . . . but this equipment is ready when needed. So folks when an injury occurs, trust the doctor in charge, to do the right thing.

Now that golf is over or about over for the office worker . . . and football games are only played once a week . . . the bowling season is under way. Most any night you can visit the alleys and see some familiar face from the business district hard at work. The first few weeks the unusual pose will tell on a man and his arm and back will sometimes suffer . . . but just let that work off and you will find that we have some mighty fine bowlers in the town. Have you tried bowling?

For sometime now we have been saying "Buy In New Castle" . . . it has appeared in this newspaper at the end of all columns for months . . . still we find people who continue to buy out of town . . . That is their business we suppose, but they should not complain when things don't go right by them in their own business. And then we find the chaps who say what a fine town other towns are and how bad we are here. If those people would pick out the weakness of other towns and compare them to New Castle we feel sure they would find we are not so bad after all. And might we say . . . those who really complain are the ones who haven't any real tangible interest in the town and owe everything to the good brethern who have.

Tonight at the game keep your eye on the High School band . . . and especially on the drum majorettes and their fancy twirls. They have been working hard and have a few new tricks up their sleeve . . . so keep your eye on them and their leader. Some day you will pleasantly be surprised . . . three cheers for them all.

* * *

And it's wise to read the classified ads daily . . . really it is . . . try them now.

Prices Spurt In Early Dealing—Some Advance Several Points

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The stock market spurted one to four points at the start today in response to Hitler's Reichstag speech, but initial gains were about halved by later profit-taking.

U. S. Steel's first sale at 78½ was an overnight jump of 3⅝ points. Bethlehem soared four points to 92¾.

Bethlehem's extreme gain was halved, while big steel gave up a point of its early climb. Trading slowed abruptly as profit-taking spread through the market.

In a strong chemical group, DuPont and Air Reduction were up three at their tops, and Allied Chemical and Union Carbide better than two.

Others to show extreme gains of two or more points were Case, Douglas Aircraft, Great Western Sugar and Fajardo.

There were few backward issues, including Loew's which lost more than a point on its initial sale. Utilities also lagged.

Ellwood High Plays At Butler Tonight

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 6—"Ellwood has a good chance to win" said the usually reticent "Dutch" Croft concerning Ellwood City High school's football team invasion of Butler tonight and the squad having the same optimistic spirit, if they don't win, they will not give the Heinzer crew a "Powder-puff" victory.

The Wolverines starting line-up will be the same as in previous games, but it is expected that Morrison will alternate with Miller in the tackle position. Croft will not decide on the starting backfield until he finds out who wins the toss. He has been working with two combinations, one being composed of Greco, Mazzant, Cartwright and Biego and the other of Reino, Murphy, Welton, Cipro or Biego, and they seem to be equally good. In any chance, Biego will start at left half. This lad is considered by the leaders to be one of the finest players ever developed at Ellwood high. Greco is being given a stiff fight for the other halfback position by Reino, a newcomer here from the nation's capital, who seems to have the edge in experience. They are both seniors and equally good players and the mentor deplores the fact that they can't both be used at the same time.

Croft has a lot of confidence in this year's team and he definitely thinks they are fast gaining experience, so noticeably lacking in the first games. They have shown great improvement in interference, timing, blocking and tackling and their skipper says they are the hardest hitting team he has seen in his gridiron leadership in Ellwood. Their greatest handicap is the lack of experience and weight in the line.

Butler has victories over Harbrack, Mars and Zelienople high schools and will definitely outweigh the Blue and White. They lost 20 to 12 to New Castle in their initial game. They have a fine defensive team and as usual a superior passing attack but Ellwood's passing defense has been nothing to be ashamed of in their first three games. Iannotti, fullback and Sandloop, right half, are Butler's oustanding players and are "smart" ball players along with their drive and speed.

A large crowd of Ellwood spectators will follow the team for their first night appearance. The kickoff is slated at 8 p. m.

Butler's lineup will be: Sawhook and Gladis, ends; Lapore and Druda, tackles; McDonald and Miller, guards; Joseph, center; Smith, quarter; Fedokowitz and Sandloop, halves; and Iannotti, fullback.

Ellwood's line will consist of Tanner and Powell, ends; Fera and Morrison, tackles; Lanzi and Biggins, guards; and Pishioneri, center, with the starting backfield being uncertain.

Council Votes Free Collection Of Garbage Here

Votes 5-4 On Issue At Meeting Held On Thursday Night

OTHER MATTERS BEFORE COUNCIL

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 6—By a five to four vote an ordinance calling for free garbage collection was passed by the Ellwood City Council at their regular meeting on Thursday night. Voting yes were Biordi, Lanzi, Parshall, Howell and Curry and opposing, Caplan, Fike, Greenham and Hill.

Caplan objected saying that it would cost at least $12,000 per year and mean a 2 mill increase in taxes and with Fike and Greenham declared it would be unfair to the incoming council to saddle them with a large debt. Hill reminded Council that it was still facing the sewage disposal plant problem and that improvements there or a new plant would cost a large sum. Howell said it would not increase taxes and asked that it be passed that bids to ascertain the cost might be secured.

Mr. Howell further stated that he did no approve any bill that would increase taxes and said he believed there could be a reduction in other boro expenses During the year, $5,000 has been paid to the boro from the state liquor board and there has been increased revenue from the electric light department, he declared, and urged that the money be spent for something that would be advantageous to all residents and tax payers.

Bids Opened.

Bids for stone and oil for the improvement of Connoquenessing Terrace, Beechwood Boulevard and High Terrace were opened and referred to the street committee with power to act.

A request of the Ellwood Water company that plans be approved for laying lines in the new Parkview and Rolling Hills developments was given to the water committee for study.

In the future, clothing from W. P. A. projects will be distributed from one central office in each county according to an announcement made by the district office. Mr. Fike suggested that the local women, who have handled the distribution here for a number of years, be relieved of their duties at once and be mailed letters of appreciation for their free services.

A report of the Ewing Park concession showed: receipts, $1306.81, disbursements, $1152.98; and balance, $153.83, which will be turned over to the council.

A request from Rev. Alfred Bunney for permission to lay a track to a partly erected building at Third street and Lawrence avenue, taken over by the Kroger company for expansion, was given to the street and rules and regulations committees.

To Improve Court

Connoquenessing Court will be temporarily improved awaiting the approval of an ordinance calling for the improvement of the drive. It is a matter that has been before Council for two years and John H. Hough appeared before the board and demanded that action of some kind be taken. The ordiance was withheld because all of the property owners would not agree to a 100 per cent assessment.

In lieu of $7.036 in unpaid taxes of the Pittsburgh company, Ray H. Aylesworth had a request sumbitted that the Council accept a list of lots, appraised by the court. Most of the lots are located in the West End. The boro solicitor will confer with the company's attorney concerning the matter.

A recommendation of the finance committee that paving assessments of 3 or more years standing be collected after December 31, was accepted. Interest on the assessment was waived scmetime ago and since that time a large amount have been paid.

Purchases Materials

It was agreed to purchase various equipment for the fire department and the chief will be asked to submit a report on the condition of the ladders and other equipment. A rescue squad has been organized by the Volunteer Fire Department and they asked council to buy equipment such as boats, blankets, hooks and stretchers. A special committee with power to act was named included E. S. Greenham, Clyde Hill and Frank Biordi. It was stated that aid in finding the bodies of two girls drowned recently was delayed half a day because boats could not be secured.

George Burrows was appointed as a watchman of the Ewing Park bridge for thirty days to watch speeding and over loaded trucks.

The police committee suggested that traffic lights be installed at Fountain avenue and Second street and Spring avenue and Fifth street. By 1940 new regulation lights, one on each corner, will be necessary according to state law and after long discussion it was agreed to buy as many of the new type of lights as the police committee recommends.

New Curfew Ordinance

Upon the recommendation of the burgess an up-to-date curfew ordinance will be prepared by the boro solicitor.

Bids will be advertised for a mixed carload of poles for the electric light department, bids for lamps for street lights and boro buildings and bids for coal.

Attorney James Keller representing the Ellwood barbers asked to know why the Barber's Ordinance was not being enforced. Boro solicitor Humphrey said that the Council had absolutely no jurisdiction over the burgess and that Council could not compel him to enforce an ordinance. Burgess McGlincy was called and said that he had made one arrest and had to accommodate the barbers granted an extention of time. He furthered stated that he had only one officer on duty during closing hours

The health officer's report showed two cases of whooping cough in September and stated that the city was free from contagion at the present time. However, a case of scarlet fever was reported last evening.

There was no damage from fire in September Total fines, costs and forfeits amounted to $67.

The largest tax return in many months was made and included $661 for 1938 tax paid in September and $36,389 for 1939 tax.

Fire Destroys Large Barn On Ball Estate

Sparks From Tractor Said To Have Caused Blaze Just Before Threshing Began

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 6.—A large, recently repaired barn on a part of the George Ball estate, on the Ellwood-Zelienople road, was completly destroyed by fire shortly after 1 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. The barn was located on the former Burry farm.

At the time the fire occurred, caretakers were getting ready to thresh and the fire is said to have been caused by sparks from a tractor, attached to the thresher. The tractor and bailer belonging to John Knauff, of the Perry highway, were destroyed in the fire. The threshing machine belonging to Lester Pflugh, of North Sewickley, was driven out of the blaze and saved.

Seventy-five acres of wheat and the season's other crops were lost in the destructive fire. Fortunately, there was no cattle in the barn when the fire occurred.

Fire departments of Harmony, Franklin township and Zelienople, quickly responded to calls but handicapped by lack of water and the headway gained were unable to save the barn. By pumping water from Camp Run, they were able to save the wagon shed and a number of other nearby buildings from catching fire.
